200 Persons Killed, 1,600 Injured, in Havana Alone, Estimate

Havana (AP)—Belated advice reaching Havana Friday indicated that more than 650 persons perished at various places in the provinces of Havana, Matanzas, Santa Clara and Pinar del Rio, in the hurricane which struck the island Wednesday morning.

Ten municipalities were wiped out and 6,500 persons were rendered homeless. It is thought the material damage will reach nearly $100,000,000. No definite figures on the total number of hurt on the island were available.

In Havana alone it is estimated that 200 persons were killed and 1,600 injured and that houses of 3,000 families were destroyed.

300 DEAD IN VILLAGE
The two villages comprising the municipality of Batabano on the south coast of the island reported more than 300 dead and both towns destroyed. They were the first upon which the hurricane fell when it came out of the Caribbean sea and crossed the tip of Pinar.

Few report had been received Friday from part of the province of Matanzas, Santa Clara and Pinar del Rio, over which the storm passed, because they were cut off from communications.

MANY ARE INJURED
The survivors in various districts, many of them seriously injured were without food, medicine, and water and frantic appeals were made for aid.

Government and private trucks and automobiles have been put into service in efforts to reach interior villages. In Havana all the homeless have been given food and shelter.

Fifteen bodies have been taken out of Havana harbor, bringing the total number of known drowned to 39. Officials believe that fifty or more persons possibly met death in the harbor when the heavy seas and wind destroyed numerous craft.

A preliminary estimate of the monetary damage done to shipping is $5,000,000.

CITY IN DARK
The city is dark and deserted at night. No street cars are running and the electric lights are out.

Three citizens of the town of Guines also have reached Havana. They say they knew of only three persons killed there. Buildings partially razed in Guines included the jail. All the prisoners fled, but shortly after 20 returned and surrendered saying they preferred the jail to the terror of the storm.

West Palm Beach, Fla.—(AP)—The Bahama Islands unheard from since the West Indian hurricane disrupted wireless communication Wednesday midnight were in communication with Miami by radio Friday morning.

U. S. AND EUROPEAN STEEL
OWNERS MAY FORM PACT

New York (AP)—Possibility of an amicable understanding between the steel manufacturers of Europe and America in world trade was suggested by Albert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation at the opening session of the American Iron and Steel Institute Friday.

"We have heard recently of considerable discussion relating to anticipated competition between the iron and steel manufacturers of the United States and foreign competitors," he said, "but it is believed that should it become necessary an international conference will be held between all these interests and a full, open discussion indulged in after which a fair understanding could be reached."

MAY BOTTLE BLOOD FOR EMERGENCY, EXPERT SAYS

Cleveland, O.—(AP)—The time is not far away when blood, suitable for use in transfusions, can be obtained in bottles at a drug store. Dr. John L. Yates, Milwaukee, predicted Friday at the convention of the Interstate Post Graduate Medical assembly.

Often when a minute's time balances the life of a patient needing a blood transfusion, a "donor" with the right kind of blood cannot be found. Dr. Yates pointed out. Frequently the difficulty in finding the right "donor" prevents the saving of a life, he continued, explaining the different groupings of the human blood.

Scientists in Prague, Bohemia, Dr. Yates said, have perfected a centrifugal washing press of blood serum which is so profound that it will render suitable even the blood of an ox and sheep which, if transfused in natural state would bring almost instant death.

MISSOURI MAY

TO U. S. SENATE

Republican Votes in St. Louis Likely to Give Democrat Victory

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1926, by Post Pub. Co.

St. Louis, Mo.—The Democrats may gain a seat in the United States senate through the election of Harry Hawes of Missouri, but if they do so it will be by the aid of Republican votes—mostly in St. Louis.

This anomalous situation is the direct result of the extraordinary influence exerted in this state by Senator James Reed, whose ardent supporters and admirers are encouraging the belief that he has a good chance to win the Democratic presidential nomination in 1928. If Harry Hawes wins, it will be an exhibition of Reed power second only to the come-back he staged in 1922 after having been ostracized by the Wilsonian Democracy and refused a seat in the Democratic national convention at San Francisco in 1920.

This is one of those peculiar situations wherein the campaign is viewed oppositely by the respective headquarters.

SOME BET ON HAWES

If you get in the inside of the Republican campaign, you hear tales of insufficient funds, of disorganization, due to the alleged influence of the Klan, which is supposed to be favorable to Senator George Williams, Republican nominee, and of the inadequate support given Mr. Williams by some of the hitherto staunch and stalwart Republican newspapers in "false" by Attorney General Herman L. Ekern in a statement today.

Now turn to the inside of the Democratic campaign, and the writer was told that "only a miracle can save Hawes from defeat," that Jim Reed has torn the Democracy of the state wide open and that the old Wisconsin strength in the state is so resentful of his influence and ambitions that much of the Democratic vote will stay at home as a protest, thus allowing Senator Williams to reap the benefit thereof. The story is told

Recover Bodies Of Slain
Michigan Game Wardens

Marquette, Mich.—(AP)—The bodies of Arvid Erickson and Emil Skoglund, game wardens who had been missing since Sept. 29, were recovered in Lake Superior here early Friday. They were found shortly after Roy Nunn, ex-convict had confessed to state police that he had killed them. The bodies were weighted down with sacks filled with bricks and were in 18 feet of water under the spear coal dock. Nunn, who had been held on suspicion for more than two weeks, admitted after much questioning by police that he had shot the wardens and then hidden their bodies. Nunn led the officers to the coal dock and the lake bottom was dragged.

According to the story pieced together by the police Nunn, who had been paroled from the Marquette pri-

QUEEN MARIE WILL

New York (AP)—Queen Marie will talk to the American people by radio Friday night through a chain of 21 stations east of the Rocky Mountains. From 8:30 to 9 o'clock she will be before the microphone of WEAF.

The royal party is due a half hour earlier at the Commodore hotel for a banquet given in honor of the queen by the Iron and Steel Board of Trade. She had an appointment for luncheon at the bankers club at 12:30 upon her arrival from Philadelphia and for a reception by the national board of the Young Women's Christian association after the luncheon.

Queen Marie's radio talk will be relayed to Chicago and broadcasted from WGN of the Chicago Tribune. Listeners will be tuning in at 7:30 central standard time.

Enemy of Klan

Madison (AP)—A statement by Fred R. Zimmerman, Republican gubernatorial nominee that he had made an enemy of the Ku Klux Klan by refusing it a charter was characterized as "false" by Attorney General Herman L. Ekern in a statement today.

Mr. Zimmerman charged the "Madison Ring" and the Ku Klux Klan with combining to oppose him, in a statement Wednesday.

"The statement given to the public press by Fred R. Zimmerman that he made a bitter enemy of the Ku Klux Klan by refusing it a charter is absolutely false," declared the attorney general.

"There was no such refusal by Mr. Zimmerman. The Ku Klux Klan has not been his enemy. The story of Klan enmity toward Mr. Zimmerman is obviously made out of whole cloth to bolster his statements that he has not been a member of the Klan."

FALSE STATEMENT
"Fred R. Zimmerman falsified in his statement when he said that, as attorney general, I selected an attorney to appear for him before the civil service commission in the Cobban matter. Mr. Zimmerman falsified again when he said the attorney general concurred in the advice upon the question whether he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan."

GREB, EX-BOXING CHAMP, IS DEAD IN NEW JERSEY

Atlantic City, N. J.—(AP)—Harry Greb, former middleweight boxing champion of the world, died here Friday afternoon following an operation.

He was operated upon for a fracture of the bone at the top of his nose near the floor of the skull the result of an automobile accident a week ago in Pittsburgh. He failed to recover from the anesthetic.

REED GOES TO HOSPITAL TO SEE SENATOR

Indiana Senator Is Too Ill to Leave Bed for Committee Probe

Indianapolis (AP)—Discovery Friday of a large box containing hundreds of documents pertaining to D. C. Stephenson's personal affairs gave new impetus to the grand jury investigation of charges that Stephenson, while grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, entered into corrupt deals with high officials. The box, weighing 1,300 pounds, was found at a storage house and was taken to the grand jury room.

Indianapolis (AP)—Senator James A. Reed, chairman of the senate investigation committee which is looking into charges of political corruption in Indiana, Friday took the testimony of Senator James E. Watson in the latter's room at the Methodist hospital here. Only Senator Reed, Senator Watson and the official stenographer were present. Senator Reed said after he had questioned Senator Watson he would read to the newspaper men the official transcript of the testimony.

Sensor Watson has been confined to the hospital for about two weeks as a result of an automobile accident and Thursday appeared to Senator Reed to hold hearings in Indianapolis because of the Indiana senator's inability to go to Chicago. Senator Reed arrived here Friday morning and immediately went to the hospital.

UNSAFE TO MOVE WATSON

When he called on Senator Watson, Senator Reed was informed that the senior Indiana senator's condition was such that it would not be safe to move him. Senator Watson's pulse was over 100 and when Senator Reed reached the hospital he found two doctors and a nurse in attendance upon his chief witness.

Sensor Watson, in inviting the senate campaign funds committee chairman to come to Indianapolis, declared that "false and slanderous" charges had been made against him by former officials of the Ku Klux Klan in testimony given before the committee in Chicago. He reiterated his declaration in his testimony to Senator Reed and presented a statement which he declared fully supported his accusations.

Besides hearing Senator Watson in his hospital bed, the committee also planned to question Senator Robinson, Republican candidate for reelection, who it has been charged, also has the support of the Klan, and W. Lee Smith, grand dragon of the Indiana realm of that organization.

CHICAGO GANGSTERS
SIGN "PEACE" PACT

"Scarface" Capone Rides Home "Without Fear of Machine-gun"

Chicago (AP)—Al "Scarface" Capone, reputed ruler of the vice lands of Cicero, rode home "alone" Friday morning, "without fear that any minute I'd get a machine gun in my face," after signing a gang "peace treaty" in a loop hotel.

"Gangland's killings have come to an end in Chicago," he told a reporter for the Herald and Examiner after a two hour conference with representatives of a powerful northside band, at which "all shook hands and made up, remembering the old days when all were in one mob and happy."

The final gathering was held, Capone said, after a preliminary conference between himself and an intermediary had paved the way.

The peace, if peace it remains, came while police still were investigating the tangled clues surrounding the recent machine gun slaying of Hymie Weiss, successor to Dion O'Banion as ruler of the northside band of gangsters and liquor runners.

SUPERIOR POLICE HUNT
LOOT OF POSTOFFICE

Superior (AP)—For five months Superior police have been combing the woods near a farmhouse, 25 miles south of here, seeking $35,000 in stamps believed planted there by yeggs who last November robbed the postoffice here of over $20,000 in cash and stamps. It was revealed Friday.

Charles Bennett, now serving a term in Vaupur for robbing a filling station, in a signed statement to Chief A. E. Buchanan said he took part in the robbery, told who the other four were who were in the job and described minutely the operations of the quintet, the night of the stamps.

Bennett said $35,000 in stamps was buried near his farm. Police have been unable to find it. They have the names of the other yeggs as given by Bennett.

"Little Wolf Girls" Are Rescued From Den In India

Abandoned by Human Mother, Were Adopted by Savage She Wolf

London (AP)—Two "little wolf girls" were found recently living in a wolf's den near an isolated village in Bengal, British India. The story is told by the Westminster Gazette, which received it from India vouched for by the Rev. Jal Singh of Midnapur Bengal, and Bishop Pakenham, Wash., of Bishop's college, Calcutta.

In a distant part of his district the villagers pointed out to him a path they avoided because it was haunted by demons. Investigation revealed a wolf den in which there several wolf cubs and two girls about two and eight years of age, both exceedingly fierce, running on all fours, uttering guttural howls and living like wolves.

The supposition was that they were abandoned as babies by their mother or mothers and were found and adopted by the she wolf. With much difficulty the children were rescued, but the younger died soon afterward.

The elder child survived and now is at the orphanage. She was gradually weaned from her savage ways, but fought fiercely against wearing clothes, which she tore off even after they were sewn on her. For a time she refused to be washed and ate with her mouth in a dish. But eventually she was taught to use her hands and say a few words.

CASE HEARING

Ex-judge Identifies Mrs. Kimball as Woman Who Signed Paper

Los Angeles (AP)—Proof that a shack exists on the arid wastes in northern Mexico, like the one in which Aimee Semple McPherson says she was held captive by kidnappers, is sought in testimony of several defense witnesses summoned to take the stand Friday on resumption of the evangelist's preliminary hearing on criminal conspiracy charges.

Seven witnesses testified for the defense Thursday at the preliminary hearing for the Angeleno temple pastor and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy.

IDENTIFIES MRS. KIMBALL
J. A. Bardin, ex-judge, and one of Mrs. McPherson's attorneys, positively identified Mrs. Viola Kimball of Oakland, twin sister of Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman Biefer, a co-defendant in the conspiracy charges, as the woman who signed an affidavit in his office at Salinas, Aug. 15, last, to the effect that she, and not Mrs. McPherson, shared a seaside cottage at Carmel last May with Kenneth G. Ormiston, former Angeleno temple radio operator.

Mrs. Kimball, who preceded Judge Bardin on the witness stand, was equally positive she had not signed the affidavit.

SOCIALIST LEADER
PAID LAST TRIBUTE

Citizens of All Estates Do Simple Honor to Eugene V. Debs

Terre Haute, Ind.—(AP)—Citizens of all estates paid Friday to do simple honor to Eugene V. Debs. The hero of the Socialist leader lay in state in the Labor temple throughout the day.

Eugene V. Debs, five times presidential candidate of his party, and twice a convict because of tenacity to his principles, became just "Gene" Debs when once more he was among the home folk. Terre Haute's hero was to the Debs that James Whitcomb Riley, the "Hoosier poet," knew for years and loved. Of Debs Riley said:

"God was feelin' mighty good when he created 'Gene Debs and he didn't have anything else to do all day."

Funeral services will be held Saturday.

SHOULDN'T SERVE MEALS

Madison (AP)—A resolution protesting against serving of meals to the public by religious or other organization which are not taxpayers, was before the convention of the Northwestern Hotel Men's association here Friday morning.

Supporters of the resolution argued that such organizations as the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. are "making" huge inroads of legitimate business" by offering competition to hotels and restaurants.

FRENCH MURDERESS SEES
KNIFE OF GUILLOTINE

Donai, France (AP)—Mme. Melanie Duverette has been sentenced to die on the guillotine for having poisoned her husband. The jury departed from the usual leniency shown to women, owing to the nature of the crime.

Mme. Duverette slowly killed her husband by daily putting poison in his coffee. She desired to marry a Portuguese soldier who fought in the Moroccan campaign. The soldier was sentenced to five years imprisonment as an accomplice of the woman.

It is considered improbable that Mme. Duverette will go to the knife as President Doumergue invariably commutes death sentences passed upon women.

FINANCIER, DIES

SHEDD, NOTED CHICAGOAN, IS DEAD; AGE 76

Business Genius Contributed to Growth of Marshall Field and Co.

JOHN G. SHEDD

Chicago (AP)—John G. Shedd, financier and merchant, who died early Friday at St. Luke's hospital where an emergency operation was performed in an effort to stay a relapse after an operation for appendicitis. He was 76.

The first operation was performed only after consultations, because of Mr. Shedd's advanced years, but he appeared to be improving until his condition suddenly became critical. He died shortly before 4 o'clock Friday morning.

Mr. Shedd was chairman of the board of Marshall Field and Co., one of the numerous important posts he held after a romance of hard work for a boy who left his farm home near Alstead, N. H., to start his business career as a grocery clerk in Vermont.

During his administration of the great concern he introduced the Saturday half holiday to Chicago.

MADE GIFT TO CITY
A large fund for the funding of a municipal aquarium was his recent gift to the city.

To the business genius of Mr. Shedd was credited a large measure of the success behind the growth of Marshall Field and Co. from a small retail dry goods house in the world in the present decade. To Mr. Shedd was credited the business creed which developed the store to an enterprise employing close to 25,000 persons, with a record of having served more than 300,000 customers in a single day.

Through the earthquake shocks, which rocked San Francisco Friday morning, the telephone operators of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company remained at their posts and kept calm. They gave alarmed inquiries cheerful advice and procured information for the Associated Press and made long distance connections as though nothing had happened.

"Aren't you girls afraid," one operator was asked.

"I'll say we are," was the reply, "but we're sticking."

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company's building, tallest structure in the city, rising 400 feet in the air, was virtually unaffected.

Santa Barbara, which suffered in the 1925 quake, apparently did not feel Friday's tremors.

Inquiries developed the quakes were not felt in the northwestern states of Oregon, and Washington. Fresno, Los Angeles and San Diego also escaped them.

PLAYS QUEER PRANKS

Oakland, Calif.—(AP)—The earthquake, which shook Oakland along with San Francisco Friday morning, played some queer pranks. In the Schlesinger department store, one of the largest in the city, a wax model in one of the display windows died a cross between the chimney and the Charleston when the first shock came. The model plunged through a large plate glass window in the street and was decapitated.

The master clock in the city hall tower which regulates other clocks in the city was stopped at 4:37 A. M. when the first shock which felt.

The top of the Flax mill on the city hall fell and could not be found. Power wires at the Alameda Municipal Light works were broken. Guesf from the hotels but no injuries were reported.

Stockton, Calif.—(AP)—Three distinct earthquakes awakened sleepers in Stockton this morning. The first quake came at 3 A. M., the second at 4:35 and the third at 5:35. No damage has been reported.

Wright And Dancer Get Bail; Hearing Is Oct. 30

Minneapolis (AP)—Frank Lloyd Wright, noted architect, and Mme. Olga Milanoff, his companion were released from the county jail here Friday when they furnished $12,500 bonds on charge of violating the Mann act.

The hearing was set for Oct. 30. Immediately after their release Wright was taken into municipal court to answer charge that he is a fugitive of justice as he is wanted on a Wisconsin warrant charging adultery.

With tears trickling down her face, Mme. Milanoff declared that despite all their troubles she "would love Wright always."

Although reputed to be immensely wealthy Wright was unable to furnish bonds for the couple's release late Thursday, and he told his counsel he could think of no one here who could be brought in to furnish the bond until Friday.

Wright and Mme. Milanoff were arraigned separately and did not meet. Wright first was brought from the county jail to the federal building to answer the charges filed by La-

Large Buildings Sway Like
Trees During Heavy Earth

San Francisco (AP)—Two violent earthquakes rocked central coast counties of California Friday morning just an hour apart. The first shock was at 4:36 and lasted about twenty seconds. The second was 5:36 and was much sharper but lasted only about 15 seconds. No injuries and no serious damage had been reported from either. A third lighter shock was felt at 6:42 Friday morning.

The center of the shocks appeared to be between San Francisco and Monterey bay. The tremors were felt as far south as San Luis Obispo, approximately 250 miles from San Francisco and as far north as Napa, 50 miles from here. They were also felt at Stockton, 90 miles east and south.

LARGE CITIES AFFECTED

In San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose, the largest cities affected, large buildings swayed like trees, driving people in the streets and parks for safety. Hotel guests were shaken from their slumbers.

The quake appeared to move in a north-south direction along the old fault which caused the trouble in the quake of 1906.

At the Palace hotel, one of the largest hostleries in the city, plate glass windows were broken, plaster cracked from ceilings and heavy cracks appeared in the lobby floor.

CLOCKS ARE STOPPED

At the new Bulletin building where the Associated Press offices are located clocks were stopped by the quake. The building was shaken from the pots in the stereotyping room, and furniture jiggled around.

The police department said no reports of injuries or property damage had been received. The city of San Jose, 50 miles southeast, was badly shaken, according to reports received by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company.

Napa, 50 miles to the north felt a terrific earth wrench, as did Oakland, across the bay from here.

Through the earthquake shocks, which rocked San Francisco Friday morning, the telephone operators of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company remained at their posts and kept calm. They gave alarmed inquiries cheerful advice and procured information for the Associated Press and made long distance connections as though nothing had happened.

"Aren't you girls afraid," one operator was asked.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company's building, tallest structure in the city, rising 400 feet in the air, was virtually unaffected.

STOCK PRICES PLUNGE
DOWN IN BEAR ATTACK

New York (AP)—Stock prices plunged abruptly downward again Friday as professional traders launched an attack against the motor shares, several of which were carried to new low levels for the year. The declines ranging from one to extremes of ten points, wiped out most of Thursday's gains scored at the expense of hard-ried short interests. Liquidation of the motor issues followed the announcement of a smaller September output of cars and lower third quarter earnings by Chrysler and other manufacturers.

Fayette French, Jr., United States district attorney.

Through his attorney he waived reading of the complaint and pleaded not guilty. As the deputy left for the county jail with Wright, he was handed a warrant for the arrest of Mme. Milanoff.

As they prepared to leave the commissioner's office an attorney for Valdemar Hinzemborg of Chicago divorced husband of Mme. Milanoff stepped forward and demanded immediate custody of Svetlana, the 9-year-old daughter of the Hinzemborgs. Mme. Milanoff's attorney refused.

WIFE WON'T DIVORCE HIM

Chicago (AP)—Miriam Noel Wright is willing to aid the prosecution of Mann act violation charges against Frank Lloyd Wright, but not to divorce him.

Although she has been bled and has brought countersuit for divorce from the architect under arrest with Mme. Milanoff, at Minneapolis Mrs. Wright is now convinced that Wright "will be better off if he remained married than if divorced."

Secretary Hoover reached Chicago Friday after speaking for Republican party Thursday at Springfield, Ohio. He will talk in Duluth, Toledo, Denver, Salt Lake City and California, concluding his trip in time to vote in his home state Nov. 2.

ZIMMERMAN TELLING LIES, EKERN WRITES

Feared where otherwise I might have won, but I have never regretted the course so adopted.

"I have no personal feeling against Mr. Zimmerman. I am not now a candidate for any office and can gain nothing personally by his defeat. I speak now because Mr. Zimmerman in the statement issued the 20th instant has attempted to use my name and my official acts to bolster a falsehood and deception upon the voters. He has thus made this a political and not a personal question."

NO SIGN OF FIGHT

"Mr. Zimmerman's records as secretary of state and my records as attorney general, both of which I have just examined, give no indication of any controversy between Mr. Zimmerman and the Klan. The Klan application for a charter took the usual course of such corporate applications. Mr. Zimmerman neither refused nor opposed granting the charter. He advanced it so far as he acted at all."

FALSE RESPONSIBILITY

"The responsibility for disapproving the proposed articles was squarely assumed by me and not by Mr. Zimmerman. Those were subject to many objections. Some of the proposals were unusual. Under two drafts of articles first proposed it was provided that 'said corporation shall be subordinate to and a subsidiary of the Knight of the Ku Klux Klan—of Georgia.' I disapproved this holding a part of its sovereignty to be delegated to the state. The articles submitted also recited proposed purposes of the corporation which I held clearly in conflict with the basic principles of our state and federal constitution."

"It has never before been hinted, and I cannot find, that Mr. Zimmerman did anything that could incite the enemy of the Ku Klux Klan. Any difficulty or delay resulted solely from my compliance with law."

State Senator John B. Chase, chairman of the Republican State Central committee Friday said that he would not retract "one sentence" of a statement made recently charging Charles D. Ross, independent senatorial candidate with having the support of the Ku Klux Klan.

In a letter to Mr. Ross, the Republican leader said Mr. Ross and Fred R. Zimmerman, Republican gubernatorial nominees are part and parcel of the most vicious political ring that has ever been attempted in politics since the days of Boss Tweed."

that the women Democratic leaders are embittered over the way Senator Reed influenced Representative Hawes, who voted for the world court in the house of representatives to reverse himself in this campaign. REED "TALKED TOO MUCH"

"If only Jim Reed had confined himself to one speech at the outset," said a prominent Democratic leader, "and had gone off to the senatorial campaign investigation in Chicago right off and come back at the end of the campaign for a closing speech, we might have saved the situation."

There is a rumor that the senator was persuaded to go to Chicago and take up the Klan troubles in Indiana not only to prevent the arousing of further antagonism inside the Democratic party but to derive at the same time some benefit from his active prosecution of Klan influence in politics.

Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday, somewhat colder in east portion tonight.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

A low pressure area moving eastward along the Canadian border has been attended by rain during the past 24 hours. Its center is now over the Western Lake Superior district and higher pressure is following it eastward from the Rocky Mountain region, with lower temperatures over the northern plains and the slowly clearing skies. This "high" extensive and is in position to dominate conditions in this section tonight and Saturday and probably Sunday, with generally fair weather and nearly normal temperatures.

IS PROUD QUEEN MARIE A MATCH-MAKER?

BY ALLENE SUMNER

The "mother-in-law of Europe," Queen Marie of Rumania, is now in America. With her is her young and lovely and last unwed daughter, the Princess Ileana, aged almost 18.

With her, also, is a list destined to go down in social history, if report be true. This reputed list is a roster of America's bachelor males eligible for the position of queen's son-in-law.

Rumanians on this side of the water solemnly aver that the queen for months has been dickering for names of American single males worth introducing to daughter Ileana, and that she was careful to complete the task before she left home.

It's hard to believe, when you analyze the trend which Marie's match-making proclivities have taken. It's at match-making that Marie, queen of many bents, has won her greatest fame.

She fills a dual in this respect. She serves two ambitions—one to see that her children wed in a way that assures them positions of distinction in the world, the other to see that each marriage adds something to the prestige of Rumania and to the preservation of Balkan peace.

DAUGHTER ELIZABETH

There was her daughter Elizabeth. Story relates that when Marie took Elizabeth to Buckingham palace some years ago, it was with a view to capturing the prince of Wales. If so, Marie failed for once.

But Elizabeth was not to wed a nobody. She became the bride of Crown Prince George of Greece—who later was king for a time even "he is deposed now."

The next daughter, bearing the queen's own name of Marie, was found a desirable mate in the person of King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia. This marriage was a great triumph for the queen's delicate political tact, for stuffed club of Jim Reed that dictated the Democratic platform. Reed, the bitter, arch enemy of all things Wisconsin, drew his royal robes of domination about him, waved his marching club and Democracy bowed the knee in mute submission. It is none of our business. If that is the kind of things Democrats like, why that's the thing they like, and we have no complaint. I confess to a sneaking pleasure in the scene."

If Senator Williams cannot get a majority of more than 40,000 in the state, he will lose because St. Louis is due to give Harry Hawes close to 50,000 majority. The last time the state was divided on more or less the same lines of cleavage was when Jim Reed himself ran in 1922. He came to St. Louis about even with his opponent and St. Louis gave him more than 40,000 votes and victory.

so far, Carol's royal marriage was to Princess Helen of Greece.

The beautiful Ileana and young Prince Nicholas are left. Nicholas is in America too, but no matrimonial intentions attach to his trip, so far as is known.

As a wife for Nicholas, Marie has picked Princess Mafalda of Italy, 'tis said.

MARIE'S OWN CASE

Beautiful Queen Marie herself knows what it is to be the pawn in a state marriage.

She was only 16, this Marie Hohenzollern, future granddaughter of Queen Victoria and daughter of Grand Duchess Marie, who was the only daughter of Czar Alexander of Russia, when her family sent her off to Rumania, the bride of Prince Ferdinand.

The child-wife soon learned there was no love in her husband's heart for her, and her parents-in-law chafed at her strong will, her determination to amount to something.

Marie did not yield to fate. She looked in her glass. She saw she was beautiful, and proceeded to let others know it.

Soon her husband, at the stabs of jealousy, and by the time Ferdinand became king, and Marie queen, no royal wife of all Europe more thorough, ruled the heart and head of her mate than this girl from the north.

A son-in-law from the people for this Marie—as Ileana's mate? This Marie who dragged her court train in the dust, bowing her crowned head, groveling at the feet of her defiant son, Carol, as she begged him to forget all calls of the heart and be a queen prince first, last, and all the time?

I don't believe it.

KEEP CHILDREN AT HOME IF ILL, IS WARNING OF NURSE

Contagious Disease, Especially Measles, Are Prevalent in Country

With contagious diseases, principally measles, prevalent in the country, every effort is being made to keep a close check on school children with a view to enforcing state laws regarding the number of weeks children are supposed to remain away from classes.

In many instances, according to County Nurse Marie Klein, parents allow the children to return to school too early and it is believed that these cases act as disease carriers.

In one school at Little Chute, with an enrollment of 106 pupils, more than 40 are absent with measles, it is reported.

Following is a digest of the state regulations regarding measles: "Sick children can not attend school."

"Children from infected home who have had measles can attend school."

"Well children from infected homes who have not had measles can not attend school for 14 days from time of last exposure, dating such exposure from the beginning of the rash in the last case in the household."

"When measles is present in a community all children with the slightest indication of a cold or watery eyes should be excluded from school until recovery."

87 LEGIONAIRES TO WORK IN CAMPAIGN

Final plans for the three-weeks membership drive of Oney Johnston post of the American Legion which starts this week and ends Armistice Day, Nov. 11, will be made at a meeting of Legionnaires at 5:15 Friday evening at Hotel Northern. Plans were started at a meeting of membership team captains Wednesday evening at the Novelty Boot shop. Divisions and teams for the drive were organized. The campaign organization was to be fully completed by Thursday afternoon.

Eighty-seven members of the post who will be able to work in the drive have been invited to attend the meeting. These include all members of the post executive committee. The campaign is for 600 members, 213 more than were secured last year. The drive will close with a combined membership jubilee and Armistice day banquet on the evening of Nov. 11.

A speaker of national prominence in Legion affairs will be brought to Appleton to address the Legionnaires. H. L. Plummer, who is arranging for the speaker, will report Friday evening on the men who can be secured for the banquet.

JUNIORS IN CHARGE OF H. S. "PEP" MEETING

Junior at Appleton high school will have charge of a "pep" meeting to be held during the general assembly period Friday afternoon. Aloysius Gage, president of the class, will preside at the program. The last home football game of the home season will be played on Saturday with West Green Bay high school, and the class has made an effort to have a larger attendance and more student enthusiasm than at any previous game.

Tickets for the game have been sold by the members of the class in the high school, the junior high schools, and in the stores of Appleton.

Society Doesn't Impress Queen Marie of Rumania

BY ALLENE SUMNER
Society is at a loss. A queen is visiting us. Gracious, whatever shall we wear? How, pray, shall we lure her to our dinner table?

But, judging from the queen's date book Marie of Rumania has no intention of playing with our Society—the kind spelled with a capital—the kind which knows what "r. s. v. p." means, and that the well-dressed man does not play penny-ante with the butler this year.

Instead of queening it at Society's candle-shaded dinner tables, Queen Marie, very much the modern business woman, prefers to lend an ear to the speakers at bankers' meetings, chamber of commerce luncheons, and the like.

Of course there is one social function which even the most beautiful queen of Europe couldn't disregard. That was the state dinner for which the President and Mrs. Coolidge issued their famous white and gold engraved invitations and which was held the night of Oct. 19.

But society in general did not get even a smell of the turkey at this dinner. It was very formal and very official.

Queen Marie's American schedule shows her surprisingly free of social engagements after the function at the White House.

On Thursday she will grace a luncheon given by the New York Chamber of Commerce. Rumor has it the commeroers, too, are a bit fussed, wondering just what to say and when and how to say it.

The state department and the Rumanian legation have helped some. No one is to address the queen except as "Your Majesty," and ladies will keep their hats on when meeting the queen during the day.

If society thinks that after two days of big business men's sessions the queen will be ready for them, they are fooled again.

For the queen's date book goes on, page after page, with chamber of commerce dinners, big iron and steel dinners, bankers' luncheons, social relief meetings, et cetera.

And first and foremost come her own people, the thousands of American-Rumanians who love this English queen of theirs and who have lived for the day when she would visit them on their new home soil.

After the various dates with business organizations, the queen begins her tour of the country. Even in these small towns through which her special train passes without a pause, Rumanians, though there be but one or two in the town, will line up on the station platform in the colorful national costume.

In those towns where she actually stops for a visit of a day or so, there will be colorful pageants, processions, and services by Rumanians for a Rumanian queen.

But not even then does society step in. For the democratic queen has asked that "her people" manage all affairs in her honor, and society will sit back with folded hands.

"NO PARKING" SIGNS SHOULD NOT BE MOVED

Removal of "no parking" signs from their locations will result in arrest of the offenders, Robert Hackworthy, street commissioner, warned Thursday. The practice is especially prevalent among college students, most likely freshmen, who appear to take a real delight in carrying the signs to new locations or even taking them into their rooms, according to Mr. Hackworthy. The city has been lenient in the past in regard to protecting the signs, but legal action against offenders is promised in the future, it is predicted.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION TO MEET NEXT MONDAY

A regular meeting of the county highway commission will be held at the courthouse Monday afternoon. The session probably will largely deal with proposed appropriations for road work, new and maintenance, expected to be brought before the county board of supervisors at the November meetings.

LOWDEN CAN'T COME TO APPLETON TO TALK

Senator Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, former governor of the state and farm expert, will not be able to come to Appleton to speak at the annual farm festival and dinner sponsored each fall by the rural affairs committee of the chamber of commerce, a letter received Wednesday from his secretary stated. Mr. Lowden already has so many engagements for November he is not scheduling any more, according to the notice. The date of the festival had not been set pending word from Senator Lowden.

MOTOR TO APPLETON WEEK IS APPROVED

Retail Trades Division Says Project Was Worth the Effort

The increased sales experienced by local merchants during "Motor to Appleton" week warrant the continuation of the plan each year, the retail trades division of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce reported Wednesday at the directors' meeting at Conway hotel. A permanent value which merchants cannot overlook is associated with the idea and it should be carried out annually, according to the report of the division.

Approximately 200 signs directing shoppers to Appleton have been erected at strategic points in this and neighboring counties within a radius of approximately 25 miles, the directors were informed. The signs, which are in the shape of arrows, are five feet long and 12 inches high and bear the words, "Motor to Appleton" or "Shop in Appleton." The mileage from that point to Appleton also is indicated in red letters. These signs, although erected primarily for "Motor to Appleton" week, will be left up permanently.

KEEPING ROADS OPEN IN WINTER

Millions of dollars have been paid by taxpayers of Outagamie county for construction of concrete roads and yet these roads are useless for several weeks every year because they are covered with snow. The poorest dirt road in the county is about as useful as the best concrete road when both are snowbound, yet millions of dollars have been spent for concrete in the belief that they are far superior to the old type highways.

It has been said at the county highway commissioner's office that the only expense entailed in keeping the highways open during the winter is wages of men employed in the work. There is about enough machinery in the county garages and shops to do the work. But thus far the county board has not seen fit to provide the money necessary to pay for the labor.

The county has had the experience of keeping highways open between the county asylum and the county sanatorium, therefore it should have a fairly accurate record of the cost per mile for this service. A careful survey can and should be made to ascertain which roads should be kept open for winter travel and the board then will know definitely how much money will be required.

Several counties in Wisconsin have found it quite profitable to keep at least the main highways open for winter travel. It means better business for the communities served by these highways. It enables the farmer and his market to keep in touch and there is less interruption of business during the cold months.

It is understood that much of the objection to opening highways in winter has come from farmers, especially those who live off the main roads. It might be interesting to the county board to interview farmers in those counties which have kept their highways open to ascertain if their objections are as serious as they seem to be here. The board probably will find that the farmer is benefitting quite largely from easy access to the city during the winter.

Because of the expense connected with keeping the roads open this work should not be undertaken without careful consideration of the highways which will serve the largest number of people. Politics and the convenience of a few should be taboo. It is quite impossible to keep all the roads open for winter travel but a study of the situation will indicate those roads which are used by the largest number of people.

If Outagamie county people want their highways open for travel this winter now is the time to talk about it. The county board will go into session in a few weeks and the money for this work will have to be appropriated at that time. Steps should be taken at once to work with the highway commission to ascertain the economic value of open roads in winter and to determine what roads should be open and this information placed before the county board. If the board can be convinced that open roads are an economic necessity the money will be forthcoming.

FROM JIM TO MARIE

Mayor Jimmie Walker, the "night club boy" who has risen via Tammany to be a pretty decorative executive of New York City, welcomed Queen Marie of Rumania with a few words that deserve general attention for their combined tact and lack of truckling.

"The allegiance of our people," quoth Jimmie, "belongs to that freedom with which we have been blessed, but our hearts go out to you and yours who have come across the sea to enjoy for even a short visit the stimulus of our free institutions." Not much kowtowing in that.

Just a courteous hope that Queen Marie will take a deep breath of good old U. S. A. equality and return the healthier and happier for it.

The queen will find Americans whose tact will amount to obeisance. She will probably wonder, now and then, how citizens of a nation whose Red Cross flivvers and cash nonchalantly saved her people during and after the war can bend the knee so humbly to her royalty, carrying American hospitality to extremes. Occasionally some such question must have puzzled the Prince of Wales on his recent visit. It is fair to say that most Americans will receive the queen sympathetically as a fine personality rather than as a royal personage; and as the beloved leader of that wartime ally which suffered most terribly of all for the common cause. If we had given our men to the allied victory at the same rate as Rumania ten millions of them would have lost their lives in France.

AN ISSUE OVERDONE

In New York and Illinois too much is being made of the prohibition issue as it affects the senatorial campaign. A man is not necessarily a hard worker, an honest servant, a student of government, nor an experienced legislator because he happens to be wet or dry. Yet in the above mentioned two states it appears that this narrowing of political choices has been enthusiastically adopted as a plan.

In Illinois, for example, a man named Smith is the Republican senate nominee. A senate committee investigating expenditures finds in his case the most shocking disregard of senate resolutions and the standards suggested by corrupt practices acts. Mr. Smith received hundreds of thousands of dollars from a single utility executive whose rates he could set as head of the state utilities commission. His campaign trail of cash and bold disregard of the most obvious dictates of political decency and wisdom inclined other Republicans to put forward an Independent Republican candidate named Magill, who happens to be a genuine dry. Thereupon the Illinois Anti-Saloon league opened fire on Mr. Magill, hinting that if Mr. Smith's vote were split the election might go to Mr. Brennan, a wet, and that Mr. Smith no matter how many hundreds of thousands he had accepted to buy the nomination should be supported by all good dries as the best bet for victory. That is making the prohibition issue paramount, and with a vengeance. Carried to its logical conclusion, it would excuse the most corrupt or stupid candidate, and the most unscrupulous spender if only they were willing to stand up and be counted dry. The cause of prohibition does not gain, but suffers by this shortsightedness.

New York provides a slightly different facet of the same mistake. There one of the most reliable, competent and high-minded of senators—Mr. Wadsworth—is facing a determined opposition on the part of dry Republicans who are deliberately urging their brothers to vote for a wet Democrat and elect that wet Democrat in order to "teach the party a lesson" that it must not nominate wets no matter how well they have actually served their state in the senate.

Prohibition seems to be putting the country through a course of sprouts in political folly. A little experience of the results, and the public will learn that it takes more than a candidate's expression on a single issue to establish his fitness to legislate on a broad range of national affairs at Washington.

And did you gain her confidence
She'd tell you I've no common sense.

She'll tell you that when I'm put out

GOUT WITH AND WITHOUT

Speaking of uric acid the other day I mentioned that in health there is a definite amount of uric acid in the blood, just a pinch in a pint, but nevertheless it is a normal quantity. Everybody, therefore, has "uric acid in the blood." I also explained the other day that the presence of the normal proportion of uric acid or even an excess of uric acid in the blood has nothing whatever to do with "acidosis" or "acidity of the blood," and I called attention to the fact that uric acid is not a poison, nor is a considerable amount of it (much more than is ever found in the blood) injected into the veins it produces no discomfort or disturbance of health. These unquestionable physiological facts would bark the shins of the poor gink who rushes headlong in the pursuit of hokum and bunkum, were it not for the indefatigable aid proffered by the nostrum mongers, plain quacks and fad healers whose sly and plausible theories enable the poor gink to hustle the facts and subscribe for a course of "elimination."

The proportion of uric acid in the blood in health is about three milligrams in each 100 cubic centimeters, or roughly, one-fourth grain in each pint of blood. This would be as well dismissed as an insignificant or minute trace, but I mention it here for the purpose of comparison. In some cases of gout (though never in the disease conditions which masquerade under the meaningless name of "rheumatism") the chemical examination of the blood reveals as much as 8 or 10 milligrams of uric acid to the 100 cubic centimeters of blood, or say about a grain in the pint. That doesn't seem enough to get excited about, now, does it? Especially when we remember that uric acid is not a poison and that five times that quantity of uric acid injected into one's veins causes no particular discomfort.

I am not a doubting Thomas, nor an iconoclast nor just a cantankerous sort; I feel rather a sense of disappointment in finding that even in chivalrous disease entities which I have never seen in hospital or private practice but which all medical authorities describe quite clearly—even in this gout, according to the medical authorities, sometimes no excess of uric acid in the blood can be demonstrated by the chemical test.

In gout, the authorities teach, a characteristic finding is a chalklike deposit or deposits of monurate of sodium (a salt formed from the combination of uric acid with sodium in the blood) in the lining of the membranes of joints, in the bones and cartilages of the joints or in the soft tissues, especially in the bursa or friction pad over the tip of the elbow or the one over the knee cap, and in the cartilage of the ear. When such deposits of urates are found in the ear cartilage they appear as little nodules under the skin, and sometimes some of the crystalline material may be withdrawn by puncture of the nodule with a needle and the crystals, under the microscope, all this is pretty good evidence that uric acid bears some relation to gout, but it is not evidence that gout is caused by an excess of uric acid.

The prevailing opinion of medical authorities at present seems to be that an excess of uric acid in the blood or deposits of uric acid salts in the body tissues in gout is only a secondary feature and not the cause of the trouble. Likewise the excess of uric acid in the blood in many cases of leucemia, pneumonia and nephritis is a minor feature.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Bunco Ben Returns from Vacation
I have been told that the wild daisy contains cancer germs and that this is a recent discovery. Wild daisies have always had a place of honor in my garden, but if this is true I shall root them out.

(Mrs. W. B. E.)
Answer:—Bunco Ben back on the job, eh? The world would be indebted to Ben if he will divulge the facts about the cancer germ, a germ which Ben alone has discovered.

Something for Nothing
Mrs. R. H. O'B. of Decatur, Ga., reports that she has found that all one has to do in order to obtain free copies of the excellent pamphlets, on "Infant Care," "Prenatal Care" and "Child Care" issued by the children's bureau of the labor department is to write to the labor department, Washington, D. C., and ask for them and they will be forthcoming.
Answer:—Maybe it makes difference whether you ask for them before a presidential campaign or after a campaign. But even if you have to pay a nickel for the "Prenatal Care" and a dime each for the other pamphlets, they are the most valuable publications of the kind, I think, and ought to be in every home.

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

THE ORIGIN OF "A SCRAP OF PAPER"

To me by far the most interesting single item in the two fat volumes that make up "The Intimate Papers of Colonel House" is the entry in his diary in which he records Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg's explanation of the origin of the famous, or rather infamous phrase "a scrap of paper" referring to Germany's violation of Belgian neutrality at the beginning of the World war.

It is not necessary to recall to the mind of anyone not born since the war that in 1914 Bethmann-Hollweg, defending his country's violation of Belgian neutrality, was credited with saying that the treaty with Belgium was only a "scrap of paper." That phrase probably did more harm to Germany than an army of a million men could have done.

RECORDS IMPRESSIONS
On Jan. 25, 1916, Colonel House had dinner with Bethmann-Hollweg, and others. He was in Berlin at the time on a peace mission. As was his custom, he wrote down, as soon as he arrived at his hotel that night, his impressions of the dinner and what had been said that might be of interest as a permanent record of his activities. This is what he wrote about the "scrap of paper" incident:

"After dinner the Chancellor and I went into the Blue Room alone and talked for an hour and a half. One of the first things he explained was the new historic remark concerning the Belgian treaty being 'a scrap of paper.' He said the way it occurred was thus: Sir Edward Goschen (the British ambassador at Berlin when the war broke out) called, before hostilities began between Germany and Great Britain, to discuss the critical situation. The Chancellor, according to his story, spoke with much feeling of the enormity of the crime which would be committed against civilization had the 'white races' should Germany and Great Britain war upon one another. By the 'white races' he meant English, Germans, and Americans, for he believed that the peace, the civilization, and the security of the world were in their keeping. When Sir Edward Goschen protested and argued against the invasion of Belgium, insisting if it was done Great Britain must necessarily declare war against Germany, the Chancellor explained that in comparison to the great harm that would result from war between these two countries, the treaty with Belgium was 'as a mere scrap of paper.' The Chancellor insisted that he did not intend to convey the idea which was afterward ascribed to him, and he still contends that he was right."

It must be borne in mind that this was before Germany violated Belgian neutrality, not after it. If the German Chancellor's version of the incident, as reported by Colonel House, is to be accepted the phrase merely meant, "In comparison with the tragedy of the whole civilized world committing suicide, the fate of any individual country is of minor consideration." And the editor of the volumes, Professor Charles Seymour of Yale University, adds: "Bethmann's explanation is plausible, the more so in that the conversation with the British Ambassador seems to have been in German and Goschen might have caught the phrase without the context." To be entirely fair, he adds in a footnote, "This explanation softens the brutality of the phrase, but it does not alter the essential fact that the Berlin Government, in pursuit of selfish interests, grossly and cynically violated the treaty which Prussia herself had signed. Whatever he called it, the Chancellor made of the German Treaty 'a scrap of paper.'"

EXAMPLE OF HYSTERIA
It does not make any particular difference now how the phrase is interpreted but it is as good an illustration as I know of how wartime hysteria frequently distorts relatively innocent statements. For if Bethmann's explanation is to be accepted at face value, all he meant was that a small tragedy is less to be deplored than a great tragedy, as one might say, "In comparison with having one's head shot off the loss of an arm is unimportant."

It is of course possible that Bethmann-Hollweg invented the explanation given to Col. House, but at the very least it is extremely interesting to learn how innocent an explanation the famous phrase is capable of.

The Question Box

Q. When did Job live? B. B.

A. The authorship and date of the Book of Job are controversial matters of a great many students of Scripture being of the opinion that the book dates back to the patriarchal age, making Job contemporary with Abraham, possibly being Jobab the Edomite, alluded to in Genesis 10th

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York—Just about a month from the time I announced that Greenwich Village was outgrowing its swaddling clothes of pose and affectation, along comes a new cafe and holds a Tuesday evening "poet's platter."

All the dreamy-eyed young hardy are rhyming overtime and appearing in the highways just before the dinner bell, with scripts sticking from their pockets. Thereafter the scene is quite as self-conscious as ever it was in the Village's palmiest days. At the close of the dinner they rise and read their stuff to the assembled gathering of admiring young women, splinters and arty, middle-aged women who have sneaked off for the evening. On an average their stuff is pretty bad—almost funny.

And since it is a poet's platter, the charge for dinner is but four bits, or 50 cents, as they say east of Chicago.

I am told that the idea germinated in the mind of a certain young poet, famous for his eccentricities. The young man never was known to pay for a drink or a meal, except on those rare occasions when all doors were closed to him. There are enough strangers in New York to make it possible for him to carry on an almost continuous business of meal mooching.

Deciding to make sure of at least one "square" a week, he convinced the cafe proprietors of the business advantages of this poet's round-table and thus is able to grab meals.

This same fellow bears the reputation of having been kicked out of more places than any living human. For many months he made a practice of discovering where and when "literary tea" was being served. He never waited for the formalities of an invitation, but crashed the gate, gorged on sandwiches, cakes and tea and, once finished, dashed out, generally with some insult to the hostess because her fare had not proved sufficiently filling.

Just over the edge of the village is a dingy bookshop where, day upon day, you can see a white-haired old lady at her sewing. I am told she has occupied the antique chair for 20 years, and though all the radical and "modern" youths of the past several generations have come to her place she maintains her old-fashioned and motherly attitude.

Another book store, a half dozen blocks away, carries a sign announcing a "first anniversary sale." The sign reads: "I started out to buy a coffee pot and came back with a bookstore."

The proprietor was a former westerner who rode the range, punched cattle, and wandered about the southwest and Mexico. He knew little about books, but a great deal about people. He brought scores of customers to his store by sitting at a piano and singing cowboy songs. They stayed to buy books.

It seems he tried to borrow a coffee pot from two young women who had owned the place and who were heavily in debt. So he just took over the business. Just across the street from his place stands a man in cowboy costume, acting as doorman to a "western atmosphere" cafe. The "cowboy" never has been west of Jersey and no, doubt, thinks bronchos are some sort of throat trouble.

SALVATION ARMY RECEIVES FIRST CHECK THURSDAY

Initial Contribution Is Voluntary; Campaign Starts Monday

The first contribution in the annual Salvation Army fund campaign was received unsolicited Thursday morning through the mail. It was reported at campaign headquarters. The donation totaled $10.

Although the campaign proper does not start until Monday, Oct. 23, advance gift cards are being distributed this week to certain persons in the city who will be approached Saturday or Sunday. In this way it is hoped that the committee in charge will realize a good proportion of its goal, amounting to $4,000, before next Monday.

The question, Why should I support the work of the Salvation Army does is answered thusly by the local committee.

"Because it does vitally important work for the citizens of this state, irrespective of race, color, or creed, that you would like to do personally if you had the time special training, and necessary equipment."

The Evangelistic and social relief work of the Army is indorsed by President Coolidge, leading judges, senators, representatives, newspaper, chamber of commerce, banks, professional men, Rotary Klwanis, Lions, churches, schools, women's clubs—the best element in every community, it is pointed out.

The campaign here will last one week. Last year the local corps raised approximately only $2,000, just half of the amount needed to adequately perform its duties in this community. Mayor Ruhl has issued an appeal urging that everyone who possibly can, help the organization realize its full quota this time.

CONSERVE BEAUTY OF STATE--CATLIN

Lawyer Urges That Wisconsin be Preserved as National Playground

"People should take more interest in conservation of natural beauty spots in our state," said Mark Catlin in an address on Conservation at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club at Conway hotel Wednesday noon.

Mr. Catlin referred to the proposed survey of the Wolf river, the Menominee Indian reservation for water power as an example of how natural beauty is sported for the sake of commercial gain. Mr. Catlin was one of those who opposed the proposed survey at a hearing at Milwaukee some time ago.

"Wisconsin is nationally known as a natural playground and a vacation

SKIN TROUBLE COVERS BODY

At last finds treatment which cleared it away in few days

Badger, Minn., March 1:—"A while ago I was troubled with a skin disease, a mild case of itch, which was very distressing. It began on my leg and was most aggravating, the more I scratched it, the more it itched. Finally a number of tiny pimples formed and soon spread all over my body. It became so bad that I did not know what to do about it and was going to consult a physician when a friend of mine suggested that I try Resinol Ointment. I bought a jar the next day and was delighted with the relief I obtained after the first application. A few more treatments and the itch was entirely gone. I have also used Resinol Soap and Ointment for blackheads and pimples and it helped wonderfully. I cannot praise Resinol enough for all the good it has done me." (Signed) Celia Stoffel, Star Route.

TEACHERS CAN'T JOIN GROUP AFTER MONDAY

Monday is the last day in which teachers in rural schools are expected to file application for membership in the Northeastern District Teachers' association, it was reported Thursday. Every effort has been concentrated toward a 100 per cent county membership but unless the last minute brings forth many applications the goal will not be reached, it was stated.

SPREAD OF CHOLERA AVERTED BY SERUM

No New Cases in County Are Reported, Local Veterinarian Reports

Danger of a serious hog cholera epidemic in Outagamie-co was averted by the arrival of preventative serum early this week, according to Dr. N. Johnson, local veterinarian who was placed in charge of operations against the disease by Dr. H. J. Larzelera of the state and federal agricultural departments. Dr. Larzelera was called to Appleton upon discovery of the disease in a herd of hogs belonging to F. C. Mueller, route 4, Appleton.

Fortunately the disease was slow working and in spite of the delay in the arrival of the serum, only a small number of Mueller's herd succumbed to the disease. Had it been an acute attack, there is no doubt but what nearly all animals in the herd would have died. No more cases have been reported, according to Dr. Johnson, and it is thought that the danger of a serious epidemic has been averted.

BEAUTY HINTS

Floor Coverings Should Add Style And Beauty Better Grade Of Rugs Prove Good Investment

BY JAMES BLAUVELT

FLOORS and their coverings have progressed a long way since the sixteenth century, when a carpet of rushes served to protect people's feet from the cold stone floor, and to catch all the dust and refuse of the house, growing dirtier and dirtier until the time for the periodic sweeping out and laying of new rushes.

The first purpose of carpets is to supply warmth, of course; but nowadays we expect them to add beauty and style as well as comfort to our homes.

The floors themselves should be the best home builder can buy. Oak, maple and ash are the most durable and beautiful woods for floors, though pine is satisfactory and much less expensive.

Of the humble floor coverings, linoleum has perhaps the most varied uses. It is unexcelled as a kitchen floor covering, and is often used in bathrooms and vestibules. More pretentious designs of linoleum are very smart for bedrooms and sun rooms, billiard and card rooms, giving a smooth, spacious effect to a small floor.

A WORD FOR ORIENTALS
Rag rugs and hook rugs, now much in vogue, are an interesting and sometimes beautiful product of the home maker's art, reflecting the early period when women of necessity made most of the fabrics used in their homes.

But these rugs cannot be compared, for beauty and artistic value, with the richer types of rugs such as those that come from the Orient.

Among floor coverings for general use are: the Aubusson and Gobelin carpets, limited by their cost to monumental houses; Argonne velvets printed in colors; the seamless Wilton, a short pile fabric of great durability; the seamless chenille carpet, and the axminster carpet a yarn from the Wilton, with a high pile.

As to the pile of a rug, the general conception that a high pile indicates high quality is false. In a cheap carpet, a high pile will mat and become most unsightly. Unless you can afford the best, stick to a short, compact pile.

In redecorating your home this fall, let a carpet scheme as soon as the walls are finished. If you wish variety of color and pattern in the furnishings of a room, choose a plain neutral carpet. For a conspicuous carpet "does the talking" in a room, and everything else must be made subservient to its color and pattern.

Light colors in rugs are unsatisfactory, soiling easily and showing up the shadows of the furniture in a stark, unpleasant way.

As choosing wall coverings, select warm-colored rugs for a cold north room, and cooler tints for sunny rooms.

The tete negro or dark taupe carpet makes an especially good background for the bright evening dresses worn in a drawing room.

The shape of the rugs must not compete with the architectural lines of the room. Long lines of rugs must run parallel to the long lines of the room. Large center medallions in carpet are difficult to handle, for they may not be placed harmoniously with the chandeliers and furniture.

To increase the size of a room, choose a plain or small patterned carpet to cover the entire floor to the base board. A border of bare floor cuts down the apparent size of the floor.

Though small rugs are flexible and make housecleaning easier, they decrease the size of a room by breaking up the floor space into little islands. In the dining room, Oriental rugs are laid here and there against a background of plain dull velvet.

A large plain carpet is useful in case you move into a new house, for it may be cut up and placed in various ways.

The proper width of the border—if you have a room large enough to admit of a bare border, is from a foot to eighteen inches.

Oriental rugs are a life study in themselves, but it is useful for every home maker to know something of their main classification and qualities.

First they are durable, and will outlast several other sets of cheap domestic rugs.

Second, there are many grades of Oriental rugs. Not every Oriental rug is a fine one, though the name has become a tag for luxury in decoration.

HARMONY IS DIFFICULT
The commonest Oriental rug in this country are the Turkish rugs, made of Buffalo and horse hair. They usually have a brick red background which is hard to handle in modern home color schemes, where the rose shades of red are preferred.

The silk rug is more modern in design and color.

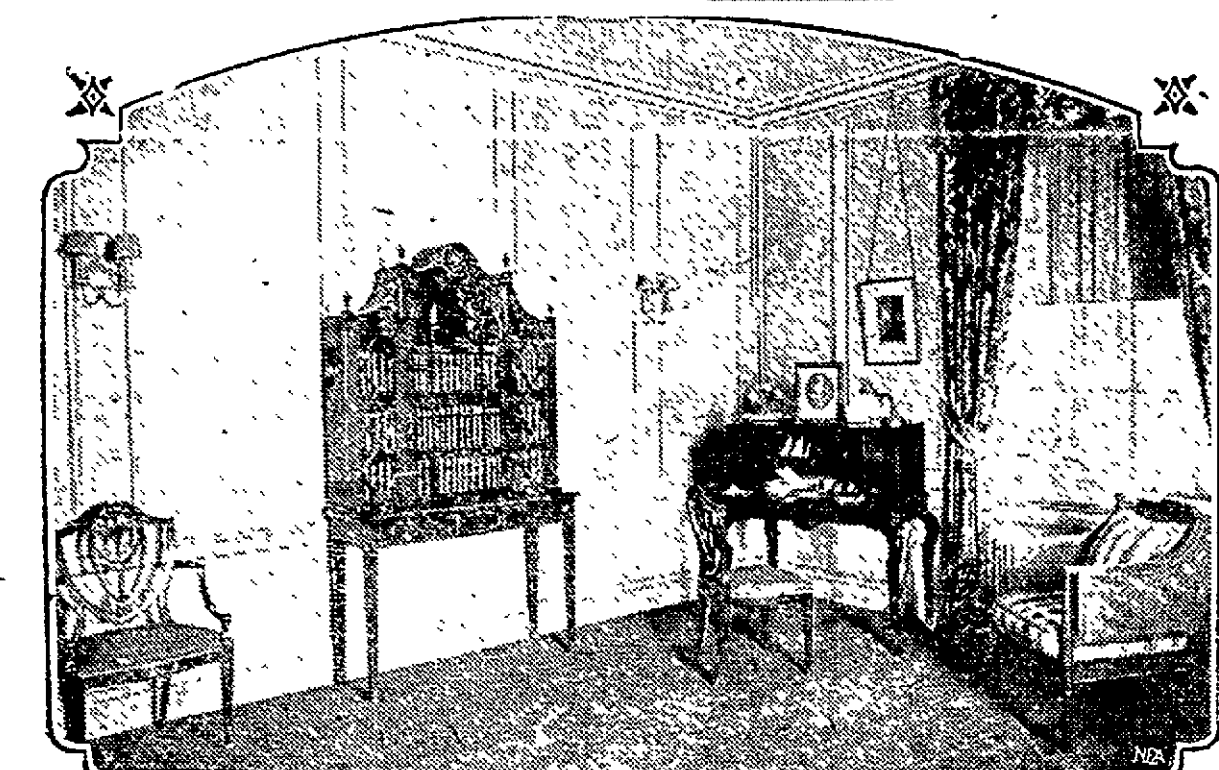

The kashan is a valuable rug, with a small overall pattern, and 350 knots to the square inch—a mark of the finest rug fabrics.

However, you can expect better wear from a rug with 100 or 150 knots to the inch.

The cheaper grades of Chinese rugs have swept America like a plague. Very beautiful rugs do come out of China, but most of the medium-priced ones shown in the cheaper stores are very difficult for the decorator's use because their designs and texture are poor.

The unwashed Chinese rugs are a possible menace to health, for they are made of wool from dead horses and cattle.

In general, intricacy of pattern in Oriental rugs mean high quality and high price, but the knot test is the standard of judgment.

Her Own Way

A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

JOHN'S TRIBUTE
John Meredith sighed. I hadn't answered him as he would have liked me to.

"Expected you are right, Judy. You have shown me that if instead of being so cowardly and self-contained I had stayed in town at my mother's home and taken my medicine standing, it would have been much better for everyone concerned."

"I certainly would have kept my sister from the great sorrow she is going through. But Judy, I have one excuse, I was very young, merely a child when I had to make my great decision, yet I am ashamed of all those years that I was skulking behind my crippled arm and leg, while I left Joan to the temptations of the world after our mother died."

"If I had only someone like you then, to show me the right way, I would have seen what a weakling and coward I was."

"Judy, dear Judy, you have taught me more of life in the comparatively few hours that I have known you than I have learned in all the years that I have gone before."

"Oh, I don't want to lose you now, just when I have found you."

"Don't worry, John you won't lose me."

I knew I had to be clippant, for I was not, I should break down and sob.

"When I was a very little girl, my mother told me that nothing would go out of my life that something better would not come into it. That may be a sophistry or false philosophy but it has been a great comfort to me."

"If I go out of your life, John, I am sure someone else will come into it who will make you happy." As I said this, my heart grew heavy, for I was beginning to feel that no one could come into my life who would make me happy.

"However," I continued gravely, "you know, John dear, there are many other things that you must find and keep and the greatest of all these is to find and keep yourself."

While we had been talking, I had an uneasy feeling that Mr. Symington had been hovering about near, and I was greatly relieved when I heard him walk across the drawing room and enter the hall where we were standing.

I knew by his expression that he was consumed with curiosity as to just what his friend and patron had been saying to me—just what we had been talking about.

"I will have to leave you now, John," I said, "for I have had a very strenuous day and I want to do honor to you tonight, consequently I am going to rest a while to smooth out the wrinkles about my mouth and eyes."

Involuntarily I saw a sneering look on the face of Mr. Symington, which I had never seen before.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

A FINE night's rest is good for all, and when they heard the morning call of birds on high, the Tinymites jumped quickly out of bed. The first thing that they had in mind was food, so set out to find whatever they could locate so they'd all be fully fed.

Said Scouty Tinymite, "I wish that we could catch some nice fresh fish. There's nothing that I like as well as perch fried in a pan." And Hooky smiled, and then replied, "There's nothing gained if nothing's tried. Let's go down to the nearby stream and, there perhaps we can."

Course Hooky was the fishing sort who really loved that kind of sport, and always carried with him lots of hooks and lines and poles. He led the way down to the bank and walked on a narrow plank, and then announced, "We'll need a boat to reach the fishing holes."

"That's true. I'll build one," Carpy cried, "so we can fish and take a ride." So very shortly everyone was picking up stray wood. Poor Carpy worked an hour or so and then the boat was set to go. It wasn't such a fine one, but he did the best he could.

They launched the boat upon the stream and then they heard wee Ukey scream, "Hey, wait a minute, Tinymites, you've left me on the shore. I am left behind today, just rest assured I'll never play sweet music on my ukelele for you any more."

Of course they paddled back again to pick up little Ukey. Then he joined fishing party with a hop, a jump and skip. And then, said Carpy, "Here we go! We'll get there, though we travel slow." And thus the happy Tinymites went on their fishing trip.

deepened as John Meredith, said "These are not wrinkles, Judy, they are the crinkles which smiling makes." "Which shows what a difference one little letter makes in a word," I returned lightly.

"Judy, Judy," I heard Joan speak my name.

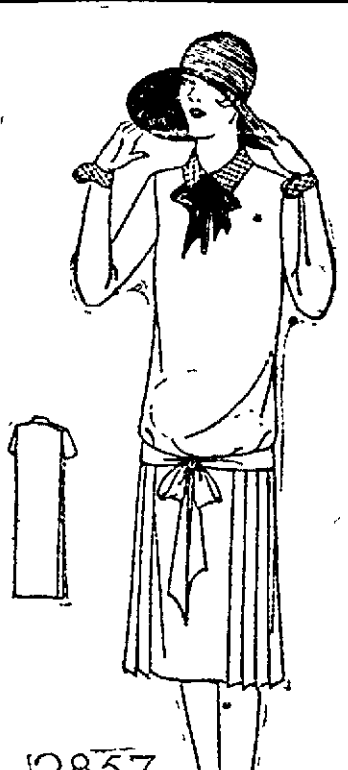

"Here I am dear," I answered.

"Will you please come here a moment?"

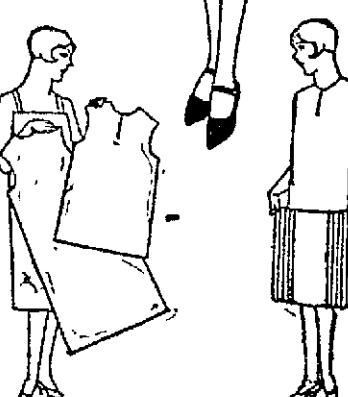

With a nod to the two men I sped toward the light. There I found Joan at her desk which had been placed in one corner of the great book room. She had evidently just hung up the receiver of the telephone.

Then, as always, when I thought of Jerry I wondered if I were really in love with him.

"My dear Joan," I could not help exclaiming, "do you not realize that your brother is only a boy—why, he is a year younger than I—he is just your age."

"But I have always thought of him as older, Judy," interrupted Joan.

"I know, I know, but that makes no difference, he is still a boy, perhaps more of one than if he had been out in the world. I am sure it will be very easy to take his thoughts away from himself."

Manipulation Of Fur And Material Gives Distinction To Coats This Year

BY HENRI BENDEL

NEW YORK. — The most insistent changes in fashion in the last few seasons have concerned the coat.

For a long time, the jaunty little two-piece was a staple in the wardrobe, but it was supplanted by the three piece costume which made the separate blouse and skirt as obsolete as a pompadour.

A later evolution of fashion is a modified ensemble, the costume and coat, separate, but related in feeling contrasting in color or harmonizing as the material and style warrants.

The old hit-and-miss feeling is gone from the mode, but so too is the rigidity of the matching ensemble. This new harmony cannot, of course, be accomplished with one wrap. Smartly dressed woman must possess a coat suitable for every type of frock.

SIMPLICITY IN SPORTS WEAR

There are smart sport coats for morning to wear over the simple chic-frocks of jersey or crepe, smart semi-dress coats for afternoon to wear with the new broades, printed velvets and chiffons, and there are scores of evening wraps for different types of occasions.

Photographed today is a semidress coat, a morning coat, and one of fur for afternoon. Each has its definite place in the wardrobe.

For morning, simplicity is the first law. The lines must be simple and the materials suggestive of quality, but not decorative. The new soft tweeds, kashas, and mannish fabrics are ideal.

The most photographed is of tweed with a large collar of natural lynx. This may be worn for country or sport as well as for the morning shopping jaunt. The business woman could wear it all day, if she affects simple day dresses on the sport order.

The model for semi-dress is of tan cloth lined with cloth and trimmed with a deep, square pointed collar of the fur reach to the elbow of the loose, comfortable sleeve.

The use of fur here is a happy inspiration, because it is absolutely new. The coats of this season have nothing new to present in line, but it is in the manipulation of the material and the clever placing of fur that they achieve novelty.

Fur lined coats are ideal for sport and for day wears. They come in the most interesting combinations. Fur with metal threads, frisco, twill or flat silk crepe. dividual glass the size of a spoon with like jam. I believe matrimonial bureaus would do a land-office business in husbands if they put among the credentials of their female clients, "She can make good old-fashioned gooseberry jam, and for cherry preserve she can't me beat." Have you ever entertained a bachelor who dines at his club or hotels and who knows no "spread," save mint gelatinized jelly with his lamb, a paper thimble of anemic apple sauce with his duck, guava with his patties, and with his turkey cranberries the color and consistency of dried blood?

If he asks if there is such a thing as jam to be had, the assistant waiter goes to the waiter, the waiter goes to the captain, the captain goes to the head waiter, the head waiter goes to the steward, and the steward goes to the management. coats are lined with cloth or velvet, quite as often as with the more usual satin or crepe. Furs are dyed to match cloth, and cloth is dyed to match a pelt.

No fur is too humble to be used as trimming this year, but no trouble is too great to achieve a distinctive treatment for an ordinary fur. Rabbit, pony, antelope and many of the inexpensive furs are metamorphosed into the most costly looking pelts.

This season's coat is not extreme in line, but there is a surprising amount of stitching, fold, and manipulation of the fabric. Coats come in all lengths, from three-quarters down, but the most practical ones are long enough completely to cover the costume.

WITH the old-time "sanitary pad" women realize their constant danger of offense, plus the embarrassment of disposal. And thus spend unhappy days.

"KOTEX," a new and remarkable way, is now used by 8 in 10 better class women. It's five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

You dine, dance, motor for hours in sheerest frocks without a second's doubt or fear. It deodorizes, too. And thus stops ALL danger of offending.

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment. You ask for it at any drug or department store, without hesitancy, simply by saying "KOTEX."

Do as millions are doing. End old, insecure ways. Enjoy life every day. Package of twelve costs only a few cents.

New London Won't Support
Laundry, History Proves

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—For the second time in two years a laundry has failed to make financial ends meet and has been forced to close up. The latest instance is the Snowwhite laundry which operated for less than a month in the building recently vacated by New London's lone Chinese, Jim Chung, who left for Milwaukee. Jim, however, cannot be counted a failure, he is simply leaving the city because of general principles along with the fact that too many women have electric washing machines.

J. A. Tidquist, a veteran laundry man recently looked the city over and judged that it was large enough to support a laundry. Equipment was installed, the place was painted and a truck bought. A few straggling washings were sent out, but though the work was satisfactory too many women shook their heads at the mention of laundry prices as compared to their own basement maneuvers on Monday morning.

Football Teams Will Battle on Saturday

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—The first home football game of the season will be played here Saturday afternoon with Manawa. With two victories and two losses, New London high looks forward to putting its account on the credit side with a victory over the visitors. The team is receiving some stiff grilling this week and a change in the lineup may result in improvement.

Saturday's game with West DePere proved a walk away for the latter. New London losing, 26 to 0. Several men received slight injuries which may keep them out of the Saturday's game, but members of the team with Coach Koten feel that the game was not lost without a good fight. DePere simply outclassed the local boys in weight and brawn. Enright, last year's Notre Dame player, is expected to referee the coming game.

Much enthusiasm no doubt will be evinced Saturday when not only the team but the band will make its first formal home appearance in uniform. Plans are on foot for a parade in which the band will take part, followed by the girls of the school.

HELP YOURSELF TO HEALTH

It was not sleep he needed

BREAKFAST . . . and he was tired, drowsy, lifeless. Why? Eight hours of sleep were surely enough. What ailed him, anyway? What had become of his old-time vigor and zest? Why, he was only a young man. . . .

Yes, and he is only one of a countless number of young men who have grown old and tired long before their time—all because of constipation's vicious poisons. [Thank goodness, there is sure, safe, permanent relief from this disease.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is what doctors call a bulk food. As it journeys through the body its fiber remains unchanged. Therefore, it sweeps the intestine clean and urges nature to act normally.

Eat at least two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day—in chronic cases, with every meal. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or your grocer refunds the purchase price. Its delightful nutty flavor makes it good as a cereal. Serve with milk or cream alone or with fresh or preserved fruit. Sprinkle over other cereals; cook with hot cereals; use in soups, or in the recipes given on every package.

Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. Part-bran products are doubtful and sometimes of no use. Why take chances? Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because they know a 100% bran product brings results.

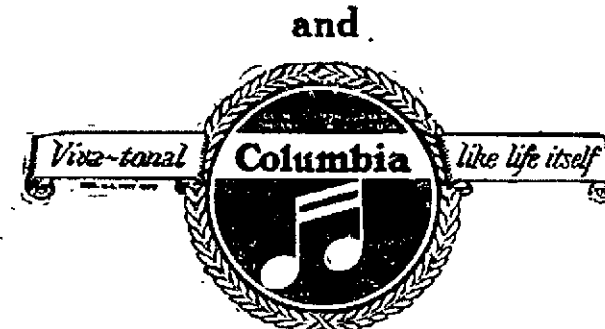

Kellogg's is the original ALL-BRAN. Ask your grocer for a package this very day. Served in leading hotels and restaurants.

SCREENEARLY DAYS OF DANGER OUT
WEST WERE REAL DAYS OF

The days of danger were the real days of romance.

Today the modern woman is prone to judge her lover by his ability to dance, or his skill at sports, but in the frontier days it was the manliness of man that counted.

This is brought forcibly to the front in "War Paint," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's initial western film drama starring Col. Tim McCoy at the Elite Theatre Saturday and Sunday.

The early days of the frontier witnessed a spirit of general unrest among the Indian tribes and white settlers and even the garrisons of the western forts were never safe from Indian attacks. The woman of those days lived in constant danger but they lived among brave men and they had a real chance to judge the manliness of their men.

In "War Paint," Pauline Starke plays the role of the heroine who falls in love with a young army officer stationed at a fort in the Indian country. Her romance begins under the pall of an Indian uprising, and continues to unfold in the hour of battle and among the hardships of the frontier.

Karl Dane, one of the trio of heroes of "The Big Parade," has the comedy role of "Sergeant Clancy," while Charles French has the role of her father, Major Hopkins, a blustering officer sent by the government to put down Indian uprisings.

LATEST MIX STORY
CRAMMED WITH BITS OF INTENSE ACTION

Even though Tom Mix has deserted his ranch to become a mounted policeman in Fox Films "My Own Pal," his latest starring vehicle at the New Bijou today and Saturday is does not mean that he has left his riding and roping and thrilling adventures at his ranch.

Quite the opposite! "My Own Pal," is one of the most thrilling of the Mix pictures ever screened—more than that, it represents one of the best pieces of work the genial western star has ever done. It is the story of an Irish cow hand who decides to look for adventure in the city.

He hardly gets on his way before he meets the first of a thrilling series of events scheduled to happen to him and by the time he has the chance to join the mounted police he has adopted a little girl, kidnapped her and saves the niece of the chief of police from injury in a runaway.

After he "makes" the force, his adventures are many—some comic and others filled with hazards. In the end, however, he captures a band of thieves who have been terrorizing the city—and is properly rewarded for his bravery and skill.

"EAGLE OF THE SEA," A TALE OF PIRATE ROMANCE AND ADVENTURE
Aho! there lubbers! A fleet of plundering pirates is coming to town! Hang out the banners. Get out your cutlasses and come on down to the Fischers Appleton theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for that's the date on which Frank Lloyd's "The Eagle of the Sea" moves into harbor. Those who've read Charles Tenney Jackson's novel, "Captain Sazarc," know that it's the tale of Jean Lafitte, dashing devil-dog, last of the Spanish Main buccaneers.

Packed with action, romance and

CHARGE FARMERS HELD UP SOFT DRINK SALOON

Louis Carstenson and Earl Stutzman, town of Black Creek farmers, charged with being armed and attempting to rob Michael Meyers, who operates a soft drink saloon north of Seymour, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Thursday afternoon.

According to the complaint the men are said to have entered Meyers' place on the night of Oct. 15, armed with a rifle, and are said to have stolen a slot machine.

Hearing will be resumed Oct. 28.

CHILDREN SELL TICKETS TO FINANCE FREE CLINIC

Children of the public and parochial schools will help sell tickets for the moving picture, "The Eagle of the Sea," to be given at Fischers Appleton theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday under the sponsorship of the Kiwanis club for the benefit of the underprivileged child. Proceeds from the tickets sold by members of the club, pupils of the schools, and any other organizations enlisted to help in the work will be used for the Free Dental clinic sponsored by the club for the Appleton children who cannot afford to pay for dental attention.

A group of girls from the junior high schools will make a campaign on the streets Saturday, and prizes will be given to the individuals selling the most tickets. Prizes also have been offered to the schools having the highest receipts.

New equipment for the clinic will be purchased with the funds received from the ticket sale. Appleton dentists are employed by the club to take care of the teeth of children whose parents are not able to pay dentist fees.

COMMITTEE DRAFTS
BASKETBALL RULES

A constitution and by-laws for the Industrial Basketball League rules committee Friday evening at the Y. M.

color, "The Eagle of the Sea" starts at a time when General Andrew Jackson is being welcomed back to the city he'd saved, New Orleans. Lafitte, a fugitive from justice, visits the town in disguise. While there, a number of things happen. He falls in love with the belle of the south, is recognized by Jackson, becomes involved in a plot to rescue Napoleon from St. Helena, succeeds in averting an international war and—but why continue? Certainly, after these few words, you too, will feel a stirring in your bones; pirates will once more move you to action even as they did when you were just a kid—and you'll be there to cheer "The Eagle" on.

Florence Vidor and Ricardo Cortez are featured in this new Paramount production. The director of "The Sea Hawk" has produced another picture which can easily be placed alongside of the first without losing any of its own glamor.

Also stage show and usual short features.

Students Will Tell What Is Biggest Story Of Week

Appleton high school students, what was the best news story in the Post-Crescent this week? The best essay written on this story will be given a prize by the Post-Crescent of $2.50 and the composition and the one winning honorable mention will be published in the Thursday issue of the paper.

Every student in the school is eligible for the contest which will offer prizes each week. If two or more essays are judged of equal value and better than any of the other entrants, both will be given prizes.

Reasons for believing the story chosen to be of greatest importance than any other will be set forth in the essay. The value of these reasons and of the story itself, and the writing ability displayed in the composition will be the basis of the judges' decision. The effect of the story on local conditions will be used as the basis for judging its value.

Stories appearing in the paper from Monday through Saturday night will be included in the contest, and the essays will be due on Tuesday. The judges will meet to read and select on Wednesday, and the announcement of the winners' names and the essays themselves will be published on Thursday.

No essay may contain more than 250 words, but may have a smaller number. Names of contestants will not appear on the submitted essays but will be enclosed in sealed envelopes not to be opened until after the winners have been chosen.

Judges for the contest will be Miss Adela Klumb, head of the English department, H. H. Heible, principal of the high school, and a member of the Post-Crescent staff.

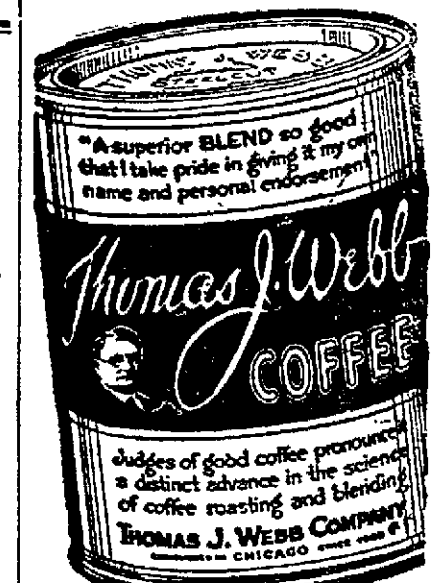

C. A. The rules will be submitted for approval at a meeting Monday evening at which representatives of every team which desires to enter this year's league will be present.

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE CHERRY LANE is utterly different from her sister, FAITH, who stays at home and does all the work for the family of six, including—her semi-invalid mother, her father, a carpenter and a contractor; her brother, JUNIOR, or "Long" Lane, 21; and JOY, 9.

Cherry, the first, is carrying on affairs with a dozen admirers, including CHESTER HART, formerly a suitor of Faith's; BOB HATHAWAY, a young architect; ALBERT ETTLESON, a married traveling salesman; old MR. CLARY, Cherry's present employer; and CHIRIS WILEY, ever when a girl has committed suicide. Faith is in love with Hathaway, who is infatuated with Cherry.

GEORGE FRUIT, rich man's son and amateur artist, is in love with Faith, and the family assumes that she will marry him. She leaves for a motor trip to Sulphur Springs, and during the trip her mind is troubled by the fact that she has found a packed and locked suitcase in Cherry's closet.

Faith remembers a mysterious telegram to Cherry from Albert Ettleson, and when George and Faith are returning from outlying during which Faith had proposed and been rejected, Faith sees Bob Hathaway, with whom Cherry had said she had an engagement, driving alone, and her fears are confirmed.

She hurries home, to find Cherry gone, the suitcase, which she had asked Junior to hide in his auto truck, also missing. She tries to reach Junior by telephone, and is interrupted by her father, who announces the arrival of Mrs. Albert Ettleson, wife of the man with whom Cherry has been flirting.

Now go on with THE STORY CHAPTER XVII

"Mrs. Ettleson?" Faith echoed in amazement. Then her instinctive, unreasoning desire to protect her parents from knowledge of Cherry's foolish philandering with a married man and to shield Cherry—greedy, selfish, lovely little Cherry—from the consequences of her escapade, no matter how far it had gone, forced an artificial smile of welcome to her lips. She nodded her voice with a false sweetness.

"Oh, Mrs. Albert Ettleson—of course! I've heard Cherry speak of you. I'm so sorry she isn't in right now—she's out with a friend of the family—Mr. Hathaway, isn't she?" Mother? Did she say when she would be back?

The corners of Mrs. Lane's mouth drew down in the stubborn expression that Faith knew so well. Her frowning eyes darted suspiciously from her daughter to the stranger who had certainly not come to pay an ordinary social call. "I don't know where she'll be back," she answered. "I don't know what all this mystery's about, Faith, but if this—this woman—her voice was acridly emphatic, insulting—"has come to make trouble for Cherry, though I must say if Cherry knows her or ever heard of her she's kept mighty quiet about it—"

"Please, Mother!" Faith begged, her voice smothered in panic. "I think I'd better talk with Mrs. Ettleson alone—"

"I didn't come here to make trouble between a mother and daughter," Mrs. Ettleson interrupted, her thin hands twisted together in painful embarrassment, her pale, greenish-gray eyes—the eyes of a timid, weak woman at last accused to the fighting point—wide with fright and righteous anger. "But I think your mother has a right to know, Miss Lane, that your sister has come between me and my husband. I have every reason to believe they've run away together today."

In the stunned, dead silence that followed, both Faith and her father, no instant, yet—his mind moved instinctively toward Mrs. Lane. Cherry's mother rose, a vast, upheaving bulk, from her chair, her drooping hands gripping the arms of the wicker chair so that the yielding, dry cane creaked—a loud, nerve-scattering sound in that awful silence. Faith on one side of her. Jim Lane on the other, flung their arms around her, but she shrugged her heavy shoulders, as if to shake off their protecting love.

"You're a liar!" Her voice, harsh and trembling with wrath, shattered the silence, made poor, insignificant, shabby little Mrs. Ettleson cringe, as if the words had struck her. "How dare you?" Get out of my house, or I'll kick you out, you sniveling, whimpering busybody! Get out, I tell you—"

"Mother! Please, Mother! Don't kill yourself, Mother! Don't kill yourself, Mother! Don't pull her back into her chair. She has a bad heart, Mrs. Ettleson!" She turned wild, imploring eyes upon the frightened woman who was covering against the table. "Won't you go outside? I'll talk with you there—please! Oh, Dad!" she cried shrilly, as her mother's body sagged suddenly, lurched heavily toward the floor. "She's fainted! Call the doctor quick, quick!"

"I'm sorry, I'm sorry!" Mrs. Ettleson moaned helplessly.

"Get some water—the kitchen—straight back!" Faith panted, while her father ran to the hall to telephone.

Faith never afterwards clearly remembered just what was said and done in those dreadful twenty minutes before the doctor arrived, but tears of shame and gratitude always stung her eyes at the remembrance of how poor, bewildered little Mrs. Ettleson had risen to the occasion. In those twenty minutes she lost her identity as a wronged wife, assumed the role of ministering angel. It was Mrs. Ettleson who bathed the purple face of the unconscious woman while Faith answered Bob Hathaway's promised telephone call. It was Mrs. Ettleson who chopped ice in the kitchen, to fill the ice cap for the stricken woman's head. It was Mrs. Ettleson who deftly undressed her and eased the inert body into a clean white nightgown.

"Bob!" Faith gasped into the telephone. "Can you come—at once? Something dreadful has happened. No—Cherry's not sick. Something else. I can't explain. Mother has fainted—Cherry's gone—oh, Bob!"

"I'll be right there, Faith, dear!" Bob's voice, sweet, comforting, in spite of the terror in it, was like a kiss on Faith's ice-cold lips. As they worked over her mother, Faith marveled, for the thousandth time in her life, at her father's gentleness and tenderness toward his wife. She was vast and ugly in her cheap, unadorned nightgown, with her graying thin hair straggling over the pillow, her thick, purplish lips puffing out grotesquely over her gusts of hard-won breath. But Jim Lane's knuckly, toll-hardened hands touched her thick, freckled arms, her heavy, sagging purple-veined cheeks with all the reverent gentleness that a bridegroom would have shown to his lovely young bride.

Faith, weeping silently as she waited for the doctor and for Bob Hathaway, looked at him as if she had never seen him before—this rather shy, hen-pecked, gentle man who would soon be old—and realized that to him the woman who lay helpless and fat and ugly on the bed they had shared for so many years was the girl who had been his bride. His love for her had burned steadily through twenty-five years of married life, of child-rearing and poverty and ill health. George would have been like that and she hated herself that she could think of her own affairs while her mother lay unconscious and gasping for breath.

They arrived almost together—the doctor and Bob Hathaway. She had just shown the doctor to her mother's room when Hathaway, without knocking, opened the screen door of the living room.

"Is she going to die, Dr. Atkins?" Faith whispered in terror, as the doctor shook his head over her mother's condition.

"I hope not," he answered gravely. "But I'm afraid another attack like this will be the end. You must protect her against shocks, excitement of any kind."

Mrs. Ettleson rose from her place on the edge of the bed, where she had been stroked Mrs. Lane's wrists and hurried, blinded with tears, from the room.

"Faith!" It was Bob's voice calling her in cautious, low tones. She was so white, so terrified, when she came walking jerkily toward him that Bob Hathaway sprang to her side and put his arm around her shoulder.

"What is it, Faith? I'll do anything in the world—tell me."

"Bob!" and Faith raised her head with that sudden, proud posture which he was coming to associate with her. "This is Mrs. Ettleson Mrs. Albert Ettleson. She came here today to tell us that Cherry—that Cherry has run away with her husband. We've got to stop her, Bob—if it isn't too late."

"Oh, my God!" His tall body doubled suddenly, as if he had been struck a knock-out blow.

"I wish to God I'd never come!" Mrs. Ettleson began to weep, gaspingly, like a child. "Albert isn't worth it all. If I'd known about her mother oh, I'll kill myself if poor Mrs. Lane dies!"

"We mustn't waste time," Faith said sharply, because she was so torn between pity for Mrs. Ettleson and Bob Hathaway and her anxiety for her mother and for Cherry. "We've got to get Cherry back—right away. Bob The doctor said another attack might—she choked on a sob that tore her throat."

"Mrs. Ettleson, won't you please tell us just what you know?" Bob Hathaway, sensing Faith's need and terror, got hold of himself miraculously.

"Let's try to get at this thing sensibly. You may be entirely wrong, you know. Please tell us exactly what you know about Cherry—and your husband."

Mrs. Ettleson dabbed at her tear-streaked cheeks with the back of a thin hand. "Albert—Mr. Ettleson—and I live in Indianapolis. He's a traveling salesman for the Tip-Top Gas Range company and he comes to this town once a month. I help him with his reports. I used to be a stenographer before I married, and they know me at his office. They let me have his mail to forward to him, or to answer, if it's something I can attend to." There was a curious ripple of pride in the dead, flat tones of her voice.

"About two months ago he got a letter in a girl's handwriting from this town. I—I didn't worry much—her listeners knew, with an acute pang of pity, that she had worried terribly—because I know how—how traveling men are. Most of the time they don't mean any real harm. Albert was always good to me—in his way, and I hadn't had any real cause to be suspicious. But when—the second letter came, I—I steamed it open before forwarding it to him."

"How it must hurt her to tell all this, Faith told herself sickly. "It was from—Cherry?"—she prompted the faltering narrative.

"Yes, from Cherry Lane," Mrs. Ettleson nodded. "It was a love letter. He had promised to help her go on the stage—in New York—"

"Oh!" Faith breathed. That explained so much! Selfish, scheming, vain, little Cherry!

"She kept harping on the subject," Mrs. Ettleson went on. "She believed every word he told her. Albert talks big," she explained, ashamed, deprecating. "He's a good mixer—makes friends in all the towns on his route. He goes to New York every six months or so. The company has its factory in Indianapolis, but its main offices are in New York. He'd—he'd evidently promised her, if she'd—if she'd be his—his—be nice to him," she supplied desperately her Puritanism locking her lips on the ugly word she had tried to use, "that he'd get her a try-out in a musical comedy. Albert couldn't do anything like that, really," she hastened to assure them, with pitiful apology for the four-flusher she was married to.

"Then what, Mrs. Ettleson?" Bob demanded impatiently. His eyes were like bits of blue ice caught in the frozen paleness of his cheeks. Faith wanted desperately to put her arms about him, cradle his head against her breast.

"There were three other letters," Mrs. Ettleson went on, twisting her handkerchief between trembling fingers. "I—I sent them on to him. I was afraid not to. Then yesterday, I was at his office, helping him make out his reports, and I found a telegram that had accidentally got mixed up with his orders. It was from—from your sister," she said to Faith, "and it—it said she would be ready to go with him, if he'd wire her some money."

"She had to get some clothes, she said. She was to meet him at Danbury, fifty miles from here. He must have seen her in between or had a letter from her at some town on his route, for the telegram didn't say when they'd meet. But last night—I was going to face him with it—he didn't come home for dinner, like he'd promised. He was supposed to be home for a week, between trips, you know—I haven't seen him since, but I found out he'd bought a ticket for Danbury. He'd gotten his clothes out of the house while I was shopping—"

"Faith!" Bob Hathaway sprang to his feet. "We've got to drive over to Danbury right now! I hope to God we'll be in time—for your mother's sake!"

MAKES BAKING EASIER

DOUBLE ACTING

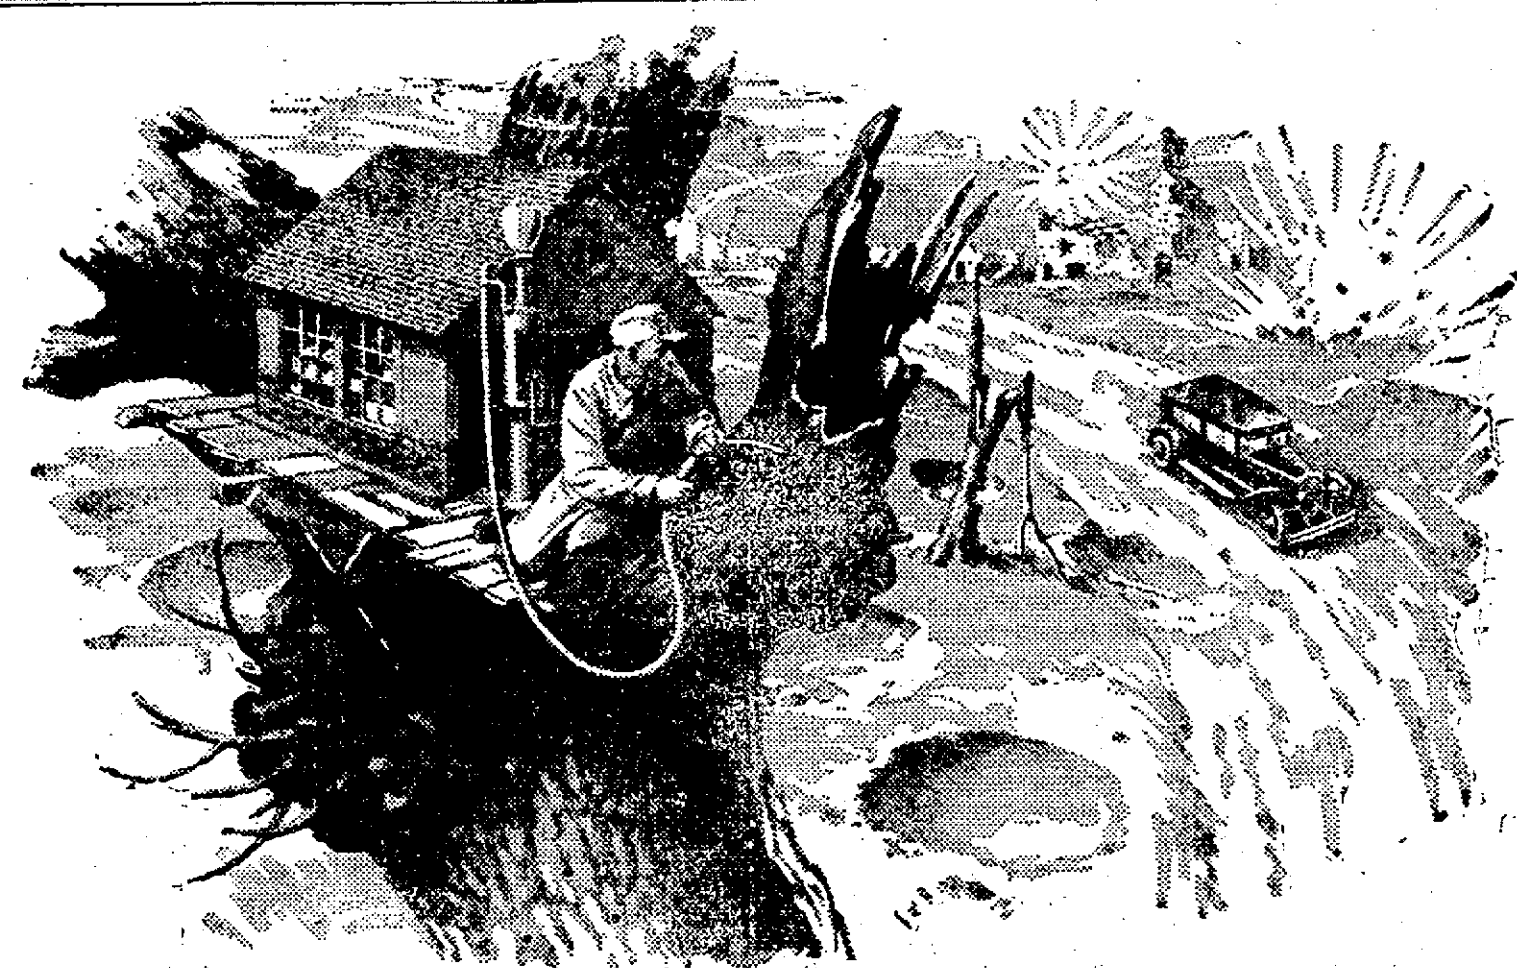

CALUMET

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

gives you double value—double security against failure, because it is double acting—contains two leavening units—one begins to work when the dough is mixed, the other waits for the heat of the oven, then both units work together. And you use only one spoonful where you use two spoonfuls of many other brands.

SALES 2 1/2 TIMES THOSE OF ANY OTHER BRAND

"Sniper" Gas

OUT on the fringe of no-man's land—detached—without responsibility—the lone guerrillas of the gas industry pot their highway prey. Hiding in brandless ambush, they depend on motoring carelessness or indifference to bring their targets within reach—offering no more entitlement to trade recognition than merely being "handy" when passing tanks run dry.

Give thought to where the brandless or "private" brand sniper must pick up his ammunition. It must be low enough priced to compete with the lowest. He cannot command a low cost because of his volume. He occupies no commanding position from which to dictate what grade of gas shall go into the tanks under his pumps.

As with any other market, it is on this class of outlet that the rejected, under-quality culls of petroleum production must finally be unloaded—usually by job-lotters and brokers, each with their profit to take.

Wadham's 370 True Gasoline [at the Yellow Pumps] is your trustworthy shield against this lack of responsibility—this dealing with the unknown—this certainty of hazard to your motor from off-scouring gas.

Wadham's 370 is the uniform-specification gas of higher grade than is supplied to any other broad market in America—kept that way by an inflexible policy of responsibility to your pocketbook. It has no ambushed kerosene, no missiles of deadly free carbon to shoot destruction into your motor's vitals. Avoid the brandless. Look for the Wadham's name at Company-owned stations and at reputable dealers'.

urday Night

More than 50 members of the Outagamie county Republican committee, and prominent guests, are expected to attend a banquet and organization meeting scheduled for the Hotel Appleton at 7 o'clock Saturday evening.

Albert H. Krugmeier has been announced as principal speaker and Fred E. Bachman, county chairman, will preside, it was reported.

The object of the gathering is to formulate the campaign for the county and to weld the precinct committees into a working group. Joseph Witmer, secretary of the committee at large, declared Friday.

Mr. Buell has retired from his state office and now is engaged in young men's work. Mr. Elckmeyer will try to arrange to bring Mr. Buell here in January to set up a young men's program.

After the conference at Green Bay Mr. Elckmeyer will go to Chicago where he will represent the local association at the national religious work conference of the Y. M. C. A. Every association in the country has been asked to send one secretary and one layman to the conference which will be held Saturday and Sunday. No layman will go from Appleton. The conference will deal with present-day religious work and its relation to the Y. M. C. A. Such noted leaders as Dr. John R. Mott, international secretary of the association, will speak at the sessions.

HOCKEY GIRLS AT LAWRENCE OPEN PRACTICE

Preliminary stick work and team formation and passing have been started in the hockey teams organized for girls at Lawrence college this fall. An interclass tournament has been planned by Miss Katherine Wisner, physical education director, provided enough girls are interested. If there are not enough entries to form four teams, the classes will be combined, as the freshmen and juniors against the sophomores and seniors, and a smaller tournament played.

Miss Mildred Christman of Tony, and Miss Irene Fullerton of Illinois, were put in charge of securing more girls for the teams. Instruction is given on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons at the Whiting field. Miss Wisner is acting college hockey manager until appointment of a student manager is made.

SUFFERED WITH ITCHY ECZEMA

On Face, Hands and Back.
Healed by Cuticura.

"For about three years I suffered with eczema on my face, hands and back. It started with small pimples but kept spreading until it broke out in sore eruptions, causing great itching and burning. I was confined to the house on account of it. I could not put my hands in water without bandaging them. A friend suggested that I try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I did so and to my surprise I could see an improvement in a short time. I continued using them and in six weeks was completely healed." (Signed) Miss O. N. Jackson, 424 Beechwood Ave., Waukegan, Wis. PREPARE WARRANTS IN PROHIBITION RAIDS

Warrants were being prepared by District Attorney John A. Lonsdorf on Friday for the arrest of three Outagamie men alleged to have violated the liquor laws.

The arrests will follow three quiet raids staged by state prohibition enforcement officers two days ago when they slipped quietly into the county and procured evidence sufficient to cause court action, it was stated.

One of the raids was in Appleton, while the other two were in the rural districts, it was said. The arresting officers will sign the warrants, Mr. Lonsdorf pointed out.

Raymond C. Vance, boys' work secretary of the Racine Y. M. C. A. and president of the Wisconsin chapter of the National Boys' Work Secretary's association, visited in Appleton Friday. Mr. Vance is visiting chairman of all commissions of the state chapter. John W. Pugh, local secretary, was appointed chairman of the state high school commission. Mr. Vance came here from Green Bay.

next meeting on the suggestion of President F. J. Harwood. Reports of the employed officers and a discussion of the reports occupied the remainder of the session.

With one of the outstanding stars of the Appleton high school football team suffering from an eye injury and a reserve lineman bothered by an injured nose, both received in the game of the week Thursday afternoon, Coach Joseph Shields' Orangemen will enter the fray with their toughest for the season Saturday afternoon in a slightly crippled condition. The Tackling Errors already are the underdogs against the undefeated West Green Bay team in the game at Whiting, field, but the injuries may wreck their chances more.

Chuck Johnston, star fullback and punter, whose work this season has been the outstanding feature of the Orange play, suffered the eye injury just as he was leaving the field. Some of the heavy mud with which the field was covered splashed into his eye and he suffered intense pain until after plenty of work by Coach Shields removed a large quantity of mud from under both lids. At present the eye is swollen and the youth may have trouble using it well Saturday. His inability to function well would be a blow to the team as he is one of the mainstays of the rear wall and a long-distance punter. Other men now on the injured list are Popp, reserve guard, who injured his nose; Witke, regular half, and Kuntz, guard. All are expected to be ready by Saturday.

Green Bay, though expecting a tough battle, is confident of victory to keep its place, according to reports from the Bay city. The Bay expects to outclass the Orange by using passes from Herber to Quinn, though Vanderheyden a half, and Mickelson at the other end also are good receivers, as was shown against Kaukauna.

The Orange practice Thursday though costly, showed an improved pass attack with Al Cookson nabbing the ball like a veteran end. Letz again featured the rear wall work with runs through the line field. With the exception of Schaefer starting at right end with Hartung in reserve, the same lineup which started against Oshkosh last week will be ready to go. Hartung started against the Schniedermans. Gelbke may replace Witke, if the latter's chest-horse is still bad, while the entire rear wall will have to be rearranged if Johnston's eye gets worse.

STUFFY M'INNIS TO MANAGE PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa. — (AP) — J. P. "Stuffy" McInnis, former member of Connie Mack's $100,000 infield is to return to this city next season as manager of the Philadelphia Nationals. He succeeds Arthur Fletcher who has been released.

In announcing that McInnis had

Disclosure Of Play Is Great Weakness Of Pass

BY "SWEDE" OBERLANDER

The forward pass no longer is merely a threat, it is football's greatest scoring weapon. Formerly the forward pass never was used unless as a play of the last resort, as a trick play, as a gamble hurried promiscuously at some dizzy target.

But in the course of its development it now has reached the stage where it is used as an integral part of the attack.

In other words, it fulfills the function of a dependable ground-gaining play. This growth succeeded because of the recognition of three important factors, slow disclosure of the play, perfection in timing between the passer and receiver, and precision in execution.

Some college teams even today have yet to co-ordinate these three attainments.

BOETTCHER LOOKS GOOD FOR RACINE

Tornadoes Enter Contest With Packers Ready for Toughest Game

Racine—All hands were on deck when the Tornadoes reported Wednesday for their first workout since the Sunday contest with Ernie Nevers' Eskimos. Despite the hard, slashing type of battle put up by the Racine performers, no one was hurt in the Duluth game and all are in good condition for this week's drilling, which will wind up Saturday when the Tornadoes leave via auto for Green Bay.

Boettcher, halfback who made a good impression by virtue of his work against the Eskimos, carried a stiff neck around for a couple of days, but it yielded to treatment and didn't appear to bother him during the Wednesday workout.

Under Kervain, the new coach, Racine showed a surprising amount of improvement, and McWilliams hopes to see his cohorts make an even better showing against the Packers. The former Illinois star, who coached the Illinois backfield under Zupke in 1925, has absorbed much of that old master's knowledge and is putting it into effect on the Tornado squad. Last week he had only a couple of days to install his system, taking over the coaching job in the middle of the week, after Barr had been released.

Even in that short time, he made a different looking crew out of the Racine performers, and with more time should accomplish a lot.

The general impression in the Tornado camp seems to be that the Packers have the best team in recent seasons and, considering the type of eleven which have tangled with Racine in previous years, that means a lot. So the Tornadoes realize they have a difficult proposition ahead and are planning accordingly.

They will go into the contest at Green Bay as the underdogs. But they were in the same status against Duluth last week and put up by far the best battle of the season, indicating that the reputation of the opposition was more as a stimulant than a deterrent.

The Tornadoes were minus the services of Kervain, flashy halfback from Chicago university, in last Sunday's game. Kervain was down with a slight attack of the grippe, but is recovered and should give the Packers defense plenty of trouble next Sunday.

Dave's Dots And Dashes

All set for a lot of surprises? Here's our pick for Saturday and many's the fan who'll disagree.

APPLETON 7, W. GREEN BAY 7. R. 14, LAWRENCE 7. Manitowoc 21, Oshkosh 0. Sheboygan 7, Fond du Lac 0. Marinette 10, Racine 0. E. Green Bay 14, Two Rivers 0. Knox 12, Beloit 0. Carroll 42, Northwestern 0.

Manitowoc should score its second conference win against Oshkosh. Sheboygan invades Fondy and the dope favors the Chairs since their brilliant game last week against Madison Central. However, the Bakerites are flyers light hard and if they are able to stop the brilliant Testwistle and the plunging Kade, the Cardinals may put a dent in the dope bucket with its neat pass attack.

The longest run made in a valley conference games this season goes to Hansen, flashy Fondy half. He went 80-yards for a marker against Manitowoc. Taking the ball from formation, he circled end and then outdistanced the pack in his down-field trip.

RIPON WORKS HARD FOR LAWRENCE GAME

Redmen Batter Frosh in Practice; Determined to Break Blue Win Streak

Ripon — Determined to break the Vikings' winning streak over Ripon, Coach Doehling's band of Redmen have been smashing through the freshmen defensive this week in preparation for the homecoming clash here on Saturday, which is expected to attract a record crowd of 3,000.

Using Lawrence plays and appropriately arrayed in the Blue and White of Ripon's ancient rival, the freshmen have been forced to take severe punishment. Smoldering under the sting of past defeats at the hands of the Catlin cohorts, the Doehlingites have been displaying more power in their drive.

Doehling is using Halverson at an end position, where his range and speed is expected to add much to the effectiveness of Ripon's aerial offensive. His place in the line will be filled by Carl Melyr, who has been out with injuries this fall and will play against Lawrence contrary to doctor's orders. This will mark the fourth time Ure has fought in a Ripon-Lawrence clash.

Capt. Ure and Capt. Counsel, who will lead the Vikings against the Crimson, were boyhood chums at Neillsville, playing on the same high school eleven. Upon graduation they went to rival schools and on Saturday will lead rival eleven in what will probably be the most crucial game of the Wisconsin-Illinois conference title race.

VALLEY LOOP HEADS HOLD FINAL MEETING

Managers of baseball clubs of the 1926 Fox River Valley league completed the league business for the year at the final meeting of the loop Wednesday evening at the Conway hotel. Forfeit money was refunded to all teams and the meeting broke up in an informal gathering at which the rival managers talked over interesting games and features of the past summer.

Those present were C. L. PreFontaine, Fond du Lac, president of the circuit, and managers, C. O. Baetz, Appleton Joseph Clusman, Green Bay; L. O. Cooke, Kimberly Arthur Larson, Neenah; Bruce Noel, Oshkosh; Louis Paris, Fond du Lac.

Wilson won the first title last year but lost its entire squad, many of whom are playing with the Orange team of Appleton high.

FOUR CONFERENCE GAMES SATURDAY

Big Ten Squads Engage in Second Conference Encounters With Hard Foes

Chicago—(AP)—Four Western Conference football teams camped Friday at the gates of their opponents in Saturday's second round of the Big Ten title battle while two others braced against invasion from outside the conference circle.

A goodly share of the midwest's interest in the encounters trailed Iowa to the Ohio State stadium where will be made the 1926 big ten debut of the Ohio eleven that swept Columbia off its feet at New York a week ago.

The happily-varied attack of the Buckeyes made an auspicious entrance, and with the conference race still anybody's much attention centered on its fortune against an Iowa team regarded as highly dangerous despite a first downfall at the hands of Illinois.

Illinois tracked to Michigan for the big game of the day with 35 men in the squad. Zupke will hurl again. Michigan in the game where the score is regarded as the hand writing on the wall so far as the '26 championship is concerned. Yost professed pessimism and dependence on "a lot of green boys" but the Wolverines are favored to win.

A wary Stag kept his own counsel at Chicago where his Maroons, decisively downed by Pennsylvania, are given less chance than Purdue, spurring in playing a scoreless tie with Wisconsin. The game marks the first conference game of the fall for Chicago, so far engaged in a trio of inter-sectional tilts.

Indiana was back to a "dark horse" status on the eve of the Wisconsin game despite a bad showing against powerful Northwestern last week. With the inability of the Badgers to get going against Purdue, the game is called a toss-up.

Rockne admitted his team possessed of twenty good plays for use against Northwestern which sees the best chance in years of turning back the invasion of Notre Dame, always formidable on forays into the conference and already this fall conqueror of one Big Ten winner, Minnesota. The white had at least two full teams to pit against Rockne's several.

Wabash journeyed to Minnesota for the day's second game without bearing on the title race. Minnesota is given the edge over the Hoosiers.

BADGERS ONLY TEAM NOT SCORED UPON

Chicago—(AP)—Wisconsin, for all the comment occasioned by the scoreless tie with Purdue, is the one Western Conference team unscored upon so far this fall. A lone field goal mars the record of Northwestern, which gives promise of being one of the big point markers of the season. The Purple won the practice game with Carleton college, 33 to 3, but Carleton missed a whitewash by a field goal.

It would seem that Ohio has the best offense in the Big Ten, the buckeyes having rolled up 119 points, with Michigan next on a total of 117. Michigan, however, has held opponents to 6 points while Ohio has 21 on the wrong side of the ledger. Chicago has fared poorest at scoring and is even, having 33 points to an equal number scored against it, while the 40 points made against Minnesota is the highest in conference ranks.

CARDS SHOULD HAVE REAL INFIELD CREW

The St. Louis Cardinals should have one of the fastest infields in the major next year. Tenenow and Bell, as a result of the confidence their fine showing in the world series should instill in them, are certain to be much improved players at short and third.

Too many free passes and the large number of "deadheads" are responsible for a deficit of $3,900,000 on Austrian railroads for the first six months of 1926.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS ALREADY SHOW BIG MOTORING SAVING

Smaller Engines of Higher Compression and Power Are in Sight

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
Smaller engines of higher compression and power will come soon, with the desire on the part of engineers to effect lower costs in the manufacture and use of automobiles.

With such engines will come great mileage to each gallon of gasoline. With them also will come more universal use of special anti-knock compounds that will help much in postponing the day when our supply of oil will be depleted.

And alongside the savings and greater efficiency of power unit on our future automobiles, there will be great reductions in tire and body costs and in their maintenance.

Even today, a beginning is being made in this great saving and efficiency program. The use of what is called a "chemical accelerator" in the rubber industry, is prolonging the life of tires and saving some $50,000,000 a year for the American motoring public.

These chemicals have speeded up manufacturing processes so that some $50,000,000 additional capital investment by the rubber manufacturers is saved.

Yet the tires produced by this accelerated process even today has increased tire mileage a total of 24,000,000,000 miles a year for all the cars in the country.

MUCH GAS IS SAVED

The greatest boon on which auto engineers depend, however, is the anti-knock compound of lead content—tetra-ethyl lead. By the use of this compound, it has been declared, we can decrease the consumption of gasoline by 40 per cent.

Figuring an annual consumption in this country alone of 11,000,000,000 gallons of this fuel, at only 20 a gallon, we realize a saving on this item of more than $500,000,000 a year.

And the duration of our fuel supply by the use of this compound, could be almost doubled.

That isn't all, however, that this form of anti-knock compound could do for us. It's use could stand the installation of engines with higher compression ratios in our automobiles. For the tiny lead particles in the anti-knock compound serve to ignite every bit of the gas in the engine cylinder, leaving none by lack of ignition and considerably increasing the force of the explosion.

MORE POWERFUL ENGINES
That calls for the design of smaller engines that could stand this higher compression or power. And that is what engineers are looking forward to. They see more powerful engines on less gasoline, with greater resultant mileage and longer life. But production of such engines must wait until there is assurance that the supply of anti-knock gasoline is nationwide.

There is a tendency also toward the two-cycle engine. The modern four-cycle engine, engineers point out, is going through twice as much work to perform what could be done in two strokes.

In the engine of today the piston takes four strokes, two up and two down, to exert one push on the crankshaft, the only stroke that makes the car go. The two cycle engine, however, to which engineers look forward, makes each downward stroke count as power. Here is the possibility of a smaller engine, with shorter stroke and faster speed, saving much energy to operate the car.

The two-cycle engine is in use in Europe, on several types of small cars, and has been giving good service at low cost. In America, a large automotive engine manufacturer plans to introduce the Argyl two-cycle engine shortly. This is a sleeve-valve type of engine for which the designers claim higher efficiency and longer life.

MEATING RECEIVES RURAL EXAMINATIONS

Recent examinations given in rural schools for the first six-weeks period of the 1926-27 school year have been received at the office of County Superintendent A. G. Meating and are being tabulated. It was announced Thursday. Not all schools have been heard from but indications are that the first achievement tests of the year will prove satisfactory, Mr. Meating said.

The results of this examination will bring out enrollment statistics for the year, it was stated. It is believed that enrollment will run considerably higher in percentage this year than last, especially in the high schools.

The number of students attending high schools in the county has been increasing annually and it is thought this year will not prove the exception, Mr. Meating declared.

WORT WILL ATTEND COMMERCE MEETING

Roy G. Wort, manager traffic bureau, Appleton Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday was authorized by directors of the chamber to attend the meeting of the Inter-State Commerce commission Thursday, Oct. 28, at LaSalle hotel, Chicago. A revision of rates in which this territory is vitally concerned will be considered at that time.

The meeting of the traffic committee of the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association, of which Mr. Wort is a member, which was scheduled for the same day, has been indefinitely postponed, Mr. Wort was informed Wednesday, to permit members to attend the Chicago meeting. Another date will be set shortly.

Miss Edith Edwards returned to her home in Madison after spending several days with friends in Appleton.

Ernest Baker and son, Don, and daughters Helen and Margery of Milwaukee spent the weekend in Appleton visiting his mother, Mrs. Baker, 408 N. Rankin-st.

CONTINUE WORK ON KERNAN AVE-SEWER

Property Holder Is Given $100 for Easement, Pending Delay

Work on the Kernan-ave sewer halted several days ago shortly after it had started because the city had not secured an easement from one of the property holders through whose land the sewer will run, was continued again late last week after a settlement had been made.

The property holder, Frank Van Rossum, stopped the work this week and indicated he would not grant an easement unless the city paid him $100. The matter was introduced before the common council Wednesday night and that body decided to accede to Van Rossum's wishes, holding that the claim not only was a fair one but that it would be cheaper to give him his price than to dig around his property which course otherwise would have to be followed.

His claim was just because he already has paid for a sewer on an adjoining street, the council held. If his house was not now equipped with sewers, he would be connected to this one free of charge merely for the easement, it was pointed out.

(Jt. Res. No. 12, S.)

JOINT RESOLUTION

No. 16, 1925

To create section 12 of article XIII of the constitution, relating to the recall of elective public officers.

WHEREAS, At the biennial session of the legislature for the year 1923, an amendment to the constitution was proposed and agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, which proposed amendment is, as follows:

"Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That a new section be added to article XIII of the constitution to read: (Article XIII Sec. 12. The qualified electors of the state or of any county or of any congressional, judicial or legislative district may petition for the recall of any elective officer after the first year of the term for which he was elected, by filing a petition with the officer with whom the petition for nomination to such office in the primary election is filed, demanding the recall of such officer. Such petition shall be signed by electors equal in number to at least twenty-five per cent of the vote cast for the office of governor at the last preceding election, in the state, county or district from which such officer is to be recalled. The officer with whom such petition is filed shall call a special election to be held not less than forty nor more than forty-five days from filing of such petition. The officer against whom such petition has been filed shall continue to perform the duties of his office until the result of such special election shall have been officially declared. Other candidates for such office may be nominated in the manner as is provided by law in primary elections. The candidate who shall receive the highest number of votes shall be deemed elected for the remainder of the term. The name of the candidate against whom the recall petition is filed shall go on the ticket unless he resigns within ten days after the filing of the petition. After one such petition and special election, no further recall petition shall be filed against the same officer during the term for which he was elected. This article shall be self-executing and all of its provisions shall be treated as mandatory. Laws may be enacted to facilitate its operation, but no law shall be enacted to hamper, restrict or impair the right of recall."

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That the foregoing amendment to the constitution of the state of Wisconsin be and the same is hereby agreed to by this legislature.

NOTE—This amendment, if approved, will add to the constitution a self-executing provision for the recall of elective public officers by the direct vote of the people of the state or of any county or of any congressional, judicial or legislative district, under the conditions and in the manner therein set forth. It will apply to officers elected by the people of the following classes only: state officers, county officers, congressional officers, judicial officers, and legislative officers, and will enable the people to recall any officer in the classes named, at any time after he has served one year of the term for which he was elected, and to elect another person in his place for the remainder of such term.

(Jt. Rs. No. 50, A.)

JOINT RESOLUTION

No. 52, 1925

To amend section 5 of article V of the constitution, relating to the compensation of the governor.

WHEREAS, At the biennial session of the legislature for the year 1923, an amendment to the constitution was proposed and agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, which proposed amendment is as follows:

"Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring, That section 5 of article V of the constitution be amended to read: (Article V) Section 5. The governor shall receive, during his continuance in office, an annual compensation of not less than five thousand dollars, to be fixed by law, which shall be in full for all traveling expenses incident to his duties. The compensation prescribed for governor immediately prior to the adoption of this amendment shall continue in force until changed by the legislature in a manner consistent with the other provisions of this constitution."

Resolved by the assembly, the senate concurring. That the foregoing amendment to the constitution of the state of Wisconsin be and the same is hereby agreed to by this legislature.

NOTE—Under this amendment, if approved, instead of the governor's salary being fixed by the constitution, the legislature will have power by law to fix it at not less than five thousand dollars, which shall be in full for all traveling and other expenses incident to his duties.

REFERENDUM

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that at said general election there will be submitted to the voters a question relative to amending the Volstead Act as set forth in the Joint Resolution following:

(Jt. Res. 42, S.)

JOINT RESOLUTION

No. 47, 1925

Providing for referendum relative to memorializing congress to amend the National Prohibition Act.

WHEREAS, The eighteenth amendment to the constitution was ratified by the legislature of the state of Wisconsin without submission to a vote of the people; and

WHEREAS under the "concurrent" clause of said amendment the legislature of the state of Wisconsin provided for the manufacture and sale of non-intoxicating beer by Chapter 556, Laws of 1919; and

WHEREAS subsequent thereto the congress of the United States passed the National Prohibition Act commonly known as the "Volstead Act" limiting the alcoholic percentage of beverages to one-half of one per cent by volume, and

WHEREAS subsequent thereto the supreme court of the United States ruled that the congressional enactment superseded the state enactment, and

WHEREAS a large portion of the citizens of this state are desirous that said National Prohibition Law be amended so as to permit the lawful manufacture and sale within this state of palatable beer of an alcoholic percentage not in conflict with the provisions of the eighteenth amendment; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, that there be submitted to the voters of the state of Wisconsin at the general elections to be held in this state in November, 1926, the following question, so as to determine if a majority of the people of the state of Wisconsin desire the Volstead Act amended:—

Shall the congress of the United States amend the "Volstead Act" so as to authorize the manufacture and sale of beer, for beverage purposes, of an alcoholic percentage of 2.75% by weight, under government supervision but with the provision that no beverage so purchased shall be drunk on the premises where obtained?

NOTE—This resolution simply provides for the submission to the voters at the coming general election of a question framed to ascertain the opinion of the electors of Wisconsin as to whether the Volstead Act should be amended in the particulars stated in the question. No change will be effected in the constitution or the state laws by the vote upon the question submitted.

Given under my hand and official seal at the court house in the city of Appleton this 22nd day of September, A. D. 1926.

JOHN E. HANTSCH, County Clerk.

SCHIPA STARTED TO SING AT AGE OF 7

Made His First Appearance on Stage as Member of "Carmen" Chorus

A stage training that began at the age of seven was the experience of Schipa, perhaps the foremost lyric tenor of the world, who will sing at the Lawrence Memorial chapel Tuesday evening. The Italian singer has appeared in opera in the European music centers, in the opera houses of South America and in many cities in the United States.

The first operatic performance was in 1912, at the birthplace of the great tenor. A boy's chorus was needed to sing at the little theatre there in "Carmen". The conductor, asked young Schipa to sing for him, and the boy later found other boys to be in the chorus. The boys sang every night that season when "Carmen" was played. Maestro Polacco, the conductor of the Chicago Civic Opera company, where Schipa sings every season, was the conductor of "Carmen" at Lecce.

Schipa's original success came in opera. Italy, Spain, South America, Central America and Cuba received the tenor before he came to this country, where he appeared with the Chicago opera and in New York.

Four years ago his career as a concert singer started. And his fame brought more pleasure to Schipa than his success in opera. His personality and his voice combine to interpret both the purely lyric and vividly dramatic as few artists have done.

ARRANGE FOR MEETING OF HOME STOCKHOLDERS

Final arrangements for the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Catholic Home association to be held at the home at 7:30 Thursday evening Oct. 23 were made at a meeting of the directors and house committee of the association Thursday night. The entire council of 12 members were present.

KINDERGARTEN TEACHERS DISCUSS MUSIC WORK

Instrumental music work in the kindergarten was discussed at a monthly meeting of kindergarten teachers in the city with the superintendent of schools at the Lincoln school building Thursday afternoon. A plan for the introduction of instruments in the work of the younger pupils has been made by Dr. Earl L. Baker, and a meeting with the directors will be held to plan the details of the suggested program.

The course of study to be adopted in kindergarten work will be planned by the committee appointed last spring. The report will be given at a future meeting of all of the teachers. Dr. Patty Hill of New York, said to be the foremost worker with kindergarten and primary age children in the United States, spoke at the convention of the Northeastern Teachers' association in Chicago held in October on this subject, and her suggestions will be considered in the committee's program.

"KISSING" ASSAULT CASE IS DISMISSED

A case against John Freiman, town of Onondaga farmer, charged with assault and battery on complaint of Mrs. Anna Schmidt, was dismissed after trial before Judge Theodore Bern in municipal court. It was reported Thursday. There was no jury called. Judge Berg held there was not sufficient evidence to prove a case against

MEYER PRESS AWARDED CONTRACT FOR BALLOTS

The Meyer Press Co. submitted the only bid for printing of the ballots for use in the general election and was awarded the contract by County Clerk John E. Hantschel for $275. These are to be 23,500 regular ballots, 23,500 referendum ballots and 3000 samples of each.

Arthur Bowle Chidman was awarded the 1926 Newberry Medal for "the most distinguished contribution to American children's literature during 1925" by the American Library Association.

STUDENTS HAVE UNIQUE WAY OF
STUDYING HISTORY

Kaukauna—Members of the Kaukauna high school class in American history have decided upon a unique way of studying the American history of the Revolutionary war. Students from the class are selected to take the part of famous Americans and the scenes reenacted in the class room. This way of studying history is attracting attention about the city.

Friday morning the Second Continental Congress held in Carpenter's hall at Philadelphia was brought to the high school class room by the students. Charles Bartsch, chairman of the history class, took the part of John Hancock, chairman of the Congress. Other characters included John Adams, representatives from the thirteen colonies and other historically famous characters. The same fiery speeches were delivered in the class room and a great amount of interest was developed in the subject. James Cavanaugh, superintendent of schools believes a great deal more can be gotten out of a history subject through these reproductions of famous incidents in the early life of our country. The class also voted the practice a success.

WANT GOVERNOR TO SET DATE TO HEAR EXTRADITION PLEA

Lonsdorf Continues Fight to Bring Alleged Swindlers Here

District Attorney John A. Lonsdorf announced Friday that letters have been sent from his office to Gov. Kohl and Harley, state of Washington, asking the governor to set a specific date for the hearing on extradition pending there for three men wanted here to face charges of violation of the Blue Sky Laws, and procuring money under false pretenses.

The men are alleged to have sold approximately $500,000 of worthless stocks in Milwaukee and the Fox River valley more than 6 years ago. The district attorney was refused extradition recently when he journeyed west in an attempt to bring back the men.

Governor John J. Blaine, it was stated has also been informed of the status of the case and assistance has been requested from the attorney general's office of Wisconsin.

It is probable, Mr. Lonsdorf pointed out, that at further hearings Wisconsin will be represented by proxy rather than incur the expense of another trip to the west coast.

40 COEDS SIGN UP FOR COLLEGE RIFLE CLUB

Forty coeds have registered for the Rifle club organized last spring at Lawrence college. A meeting was to be held at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. The membership of the club is limited to 30 girls, and eliminations will be made in a few weeks on the basis of score averages. Those with the lowest averages will be dropped from the group.

Prone shooting has been taught in the classes this year, and sitting and kneeling positions will be taken up soon, it was said. Bernard Herrick, state rifle champion of the national guards in 1935, is directing the instruction, and he is assisted by Thomas McKenzie of Shawano, a student at the college. Miss Norma Kitch of Bloomer, is president of the organization and Miss Amy Hauser of Appleton is vice president.

WOMEN'S SWIM CLASS GROWS, REPORT SHOWS

Twenty more women attended the swimming classes at the Y. M. C. A. pool last Wednesday than were present the preceding week, Miss Agnes Vanneman, physical director of the Appleton Womens club, who has charge of the classes, announced. There were 127 women present of the 150 enrolled.

Junior and senior Red Cross life saving tests were given to eight girls at 4:30 in the afternoon during the beginning class for school girls. Four girls eligible for the preliminary tests for the junior certificates practiced the tests, and four for the senior certificates. Miss Betty Meyer assisted last week when the first tests were given, and Miss Janice Reese at this week's tests. Both girls received their junior awards after a course of instruction at Camp Onaway during the past summer.

NO LAW TO KEEP ADS OUT OF COURTHOUSE

District Attorney John A. Lonsdorf, it was reported Thursday afternoon, failed to find where the statutes specifically prohibit the posting of election campaign advertising in a public building but it is believed the refusal to allow such posting is within the jurisdiction of the building and grounds committee. Several days ago this committee ordered signs removed from the interior of the courthouse.

Other department heads will be Miss Lois Manchester of Racine, women's sports; and Miss Aldine Lange of Milwaukee, society. Twenty-three students were given positions on the paper after a try-out period of our weeks. Many of these worked on the Lawrentian staff last year.

RAINBOW VETS DISCUSS DIVISION'S MAGAZINE

A business and social session of the Rainbow Division chapter of Appleton will be held at the armory Monday night. Luncheon will be served and discussion of the national publication of the division will be featured. It is planned to broaden the scope of the organ and members of the chapter here have been requested to file data for the benefit of the publishers. Also letters from members who have moved from Appleton but still maintain membership will be read. The Appleton chapter is the only one functioning in the state, it was pointed out.
